Russia Boasts About Its Long Range Missiles

U.S. Rocket-BUILDER Planning Speedup In Satellite Work

WASHINGTON (AP)—A Soviet marshal says Russia has intercontinental missiles that would be decisive in any future war.

Meanwhile, the Martin Co. said in Baltimore it is establishing a new division to speed arrangements for launching an American satellite under the Navy-directed Project Vanguard. The Martin Co. is prime contractor for the Vanguard satellite's three stage launching rocket.

In the political realm, the Democratic Advisory Council declared that "the all-out effort of the Soviets to establish themselves as masters of the space around us must be met by all-out efforts of our own."

The Russian missile boast was made by Artillery Marshal S. Barentsev Sunday in an article in the Communist newspaper Pravda. Barentsev's article followed the line taken by other Russian military leaders in celebrating Soviet Artillery Day.

BARENTSEV said long-range missiles give the Soviet Union the ability to smash any aggressor anywhere and under any conditions.

S. S. Varetsov, said Russia has ready a vast array of modern weapons, "including atomic, thermonuclear (hydrogen) and long-range rockets capable of destroying enemy targets at distances unimaginable at the end of World War II."

A spokesman for the Martin Co. said in Baltimore the creation of its new division was not indicative of any dissatisfaction among company officials with progress so far in its satellite-missiles work.

"We're on schedule," he said, "but the schedule is behind the Russians."

Former President Truman and Adlai E. Stevenson, the Democratic presidential candidate in 1952 and 1956, were among the 17 members of the Democratic Advisory Council who approved Saturday's statement. It declared that the United States has fallen back of Russia in developing "weapons of tomorrow."

"If our military and research programs are being held back because of lack of funds," the Democratic statement said, "a special session of Congress should be called requesting the necessary additional appropriations and, if required, the raising of the debt limit."

Girard Trial Verdict Due On Tuesday

MAEBASHI, Japan (AP)—The Japanese bride of GI William S. Girard prayed to Buddha today as she and her husband awaited the verdict in his manslaughter trial.

Girard, 22-year-old specialist third class from Ottawa, Ill., will go Tuesday to the small Maebashi district courtroom where his trial began 2½ months ago.

He will learn then whether the Japanese court has found him guilty of manslaughter in the death of Mrs. Naka Sakai, who was shot last Jan. 30 as she collected scrap on a U. S. firing range at Somagahara.

Only three of about 450 U. S. servicemen tried in Japanese courts have been acquitted, but sentences usually are light and often are suspended.

Haru "Candy" Girard, who married the soldier shortly before the trial began, was before a candle-lit altar today in her rented room at Oizumi.

"Oh, Lord Buddha, have mercy," she prayed as incense smoke drifted to the ceiling.

Her eyes red and swollen, the 28-year-old bride said if Girard received a jail term she would like to serve it for him.

"If I can't, I'll wait even if I have to become a beggar," she said. "I'll wait forever. I love him more than ever."

FIRE CLAIMS LIVES OF 17 — Firemen work to remove the body of one of the victims of the fire that roared through the Moonglow Hotel, a Niagara Falls, N. ## Stevenson Meets With Dulles on U. S. NATO Policy

WASHINGTON (AP)—Democrat Adlai E. Stevenson arrived at the State Department today to confer with Secretary of State Dulles on President Eisenhower's plans for breathing new life into the Atlantic alliance.

"I am here to make comments and be helpful, to consult and discuss," said Stevenson who was defeated for the presidency in 1952 and 1956 by Eisenhower.

As he arrived at the State Department Building, the former Illinois governor said he could add little to what has already been said about his mission.

Stevenson has been asked to meet later with President Eisenhower, who now is vacationing in Augusta, Ga.

Arriving here from New York, Stevenson issued a statement outlining some of his own views including the need for "highly mobile forces" to combat brush fire wars, development of joint policies, and aid to underdeveloped countries.

Cold War's Spread into Space Studied

WASHINGTON (AP)—An Agriculture Department economist said today next year's economic prospects as they affect both farmers and city folk have been clouded somewhat by what he called "the spread of the cold war into space."

Nathan M. Kofsky, department farm income authority, said in a talk at the agency's 35th annual Farm Outlook Conference that Russia's new accomplishments in the field of missiles could change the economic situation.

Nevertheless, it now appears, he said, that 1958 will see what he described as a "sidewise movement" of the economy, as contrasted with advances of the last two years.

More than 150 farm officials, extension workers and farm educators were expected to participate in the week-long conference. The meeting will feature an exchange of views on farm developments and on the outlook for farming as a whole and for individual farm commodities.

"After more than two years of steady advance to new highs, economic activity in the nation has leveled off," Kofsky said. "Since early 1957, the nation's real output of goods and services has held fairly steady. Prospective changes in demands from consumers, from business and from government indicate that, on balance, the more or less sidewise movement of the economy can be expected to continue."

Mrs. Trone Freed In Shooting Case

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A manslaughter charge against Mrs. Ruth E. Trone, accused of shooting her husband to death, was dismissed by Municipal Judge Allen Schwarzwald today.

Both Mrs. Trone and her husband formerly lived in Circleville.

The decision came after Prosecutor Paul Scott stated the prosecution could find no evidence of an intentional or illegal killing.

Mrs. Trone, 30, shot her husband, Robert, Oct. 15 during an argument, police said. Officers reported she fired three shots at her husband as he tried to break into an upstairs bedroom.

White Stuff Foot Deep In Parts of Midwest

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
A wintry storm belted parts of the Midwest today, snarling traffic and closing schools.

The storm spread a heavy snow cover from northern Oklahoma into Wisconsin and accumulations up to a foot deep were forecast.

Russell in north central Kansas had eight inches of snow on the ground; Hill City, Kan., seven LaCrosse, Wis., five; Council Bluffs, Iowa, nine, and Dumont, Wis., nine. Parts of Nebraska reported 10 inches.

Scores of schools were closed in Iowa because school buses couldn't move over the snow covered roads. Highway travel was slowed in southwest Iowa. A heavy glaze warning was issued for motorists in parts of Iowa.

The U. S. Weather Bureau at Kansas City said snow was falling through eastern Nebraska, western and northern Iowa, Kansas and into northern Oklahoma and that strong northerly winds would cause considerable blowing and drifting.

THE SNOW let up in Kansas after dumping up to 10 inches on western sections and clear skies were forecast for Tuesday.

The storm caused some damage to unharvested portions of the sorghum crop.

The mercury nosedived to 12 degrees below zero in parts of Wyoming.

Heavy rains sprayed eastern Texas, western Tennessee and Kentucky, and southeastern Missouri. Dyersburg, Tenn., had three inches of rain in six hours.

Thousands of acres of farmland were inundated and many families were evacuated in the sodden southeast Missouri foothills. The area has been drenched by 11 inches of rain in a week.

The rains ended the cotton crop for the year. Schools were closed in Bragg City, Deering, Portageville and Arbyrd.

Weatherman Says Thunderstorms Due

According to the weatherman heavy thunderstorms and colder temperature is expected in this area tonight.

Tuesday's forecast calls for cloudy, windy and colder. The low tonight probably will be in the 30's with a high in the 40's predicted tomorrow.

At 8 a. m. today .03 inch of precipitation had fallen here. However, heavy rains continued most of the morning, sending local citizens looking for umbrellas and raincoats.

Explosions Rattle Tripoli Buildings

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP)—Explosives Sunday night broke windows and caused other slight damage to the postoffice and adjoining buildings in Tripoli.

Lebanon has been undergoing a wave of bombings, killings, kidnappings and beatings recently. Local newspapers accused Syria's pro-Soviet army leaders of being the moving spirits.

Scientists Said 'Puzzling' Because They're Human Too

Editor's Note: Following is the first in a series of special articles by the chief Associated Press science reporter.

By ALTON BLAKESLEE
NEW YORK (AP)—Scientists are strange and puzzling people for one simple reason—they are human.

They are ordinary people with specialized knowledge in one or more sciences.

But they are bearing a cross of considerable public opinion which thinks scientists are oddballs, very evil or very dedicated to good, impractical, superhuman, absent-minded, self-centered, goddess, or dull.

Surveys show 25 to nearly 50 per cent of teen-agers and adults hold such opinions.

This doesn't make scientists happy, naturally. They say these attitudes don't hurt them personally so much as science generally, and the decisions of youngsters whether to become scientists. Russia encourages no such views about science and scientists.

Movies about "mad scientists" played a part in creating prejudices against scientists, says anthropologist Margaret Mead.

So have concepts drawn from TV, newspapers, radio, teachers, gossip, and behavior of some scientists themselves.

Meet many scientists and their common denominator of humanity becomes clearly apparent.

Some are avid football or baseball fans, or love music, books, poker, or playing tennis or pool. Others like bridge, growing roses, seeing plays, travel, swimming.

Many are gay and witty, some quiet, some shy, or all these things at different times. Only a very few are stuffed shirts or snobs who think you ought to know a lot about their subject or speak their language in order to be intelligent—though they know precious little about other people's specialties.

They love their work, especially the good ones, and are wrapped up in it as is anyone who likes his job. They find their work exciting—that's why they chose it.

Dr. Ernest Pollard, chairman of Yale's biophysics department, tells a story illustrating how easy it is to absorb popular concepts about scientists in general.

A high school girl worked one summer in his laboratory as a dishwasher and assistant to a technician. Among eggs being used for research, one hatched a baby chick, which became her pet.

One day it tried to follow her into an elevator, and fell four floors into the well below.

"She was terribly impressed that scientists in our lab solved the not-easy problem of rescue in a few minutes through intelligence, brawn and kindness," Dr. Pollard says. "She says it was an eye-opener how human and nice scientists are, not like the popular pictures of them."

Ernie Pollard doesn't say so, but it's also a tribute that at home he's regarded as a human being, father and husband rather than a scientist.

For the young girl was his own daughter, Carol.

Tokyo Says Soviet Asks Swap of Data

TOKYO (AP)—The Tokyo Astronomical Observatory said today the Soviet Union has proposed an exchange of information with Japan on earth satellites.

Japan has received much of its previous advance data on the two Soviet Sputniks, such as their anticipated route, from the calculations of U. S. scientists. The Russians have given out almost no advance data except the radio frequencies on which the baby moons transmit and timetables of their crossings over various cities.

Van Wert Man Admits Slaying In California

RIVERSIDE, Calif. (AP)—Riverside County authorities planned to fly East today to bring back a man whose arrest Saturday ended a seven-month search.

Sheriff Wilmer L. Clay of Van Wert County, Ohio, arrested James F. Black, 25, on request of authorities here. Sheriff Clay said Black admitted killing Thomas Benjamin Snow, 31, of nearby Bloomington last spring.

Black, who was living with his grandparents in Van Wert, was stopped and arrested by Sheriff Clay as he drove down a Van Wert street.

Snow's body was found April 7 by two boys near a cement company plant here. He had been shot twice and tied in a chenille bedspread. Officers said it took nearly seven months to identify Snow through fingerprints.

Snow's father, Thomas Snow of Lima, Ohio, said his son went to California in 1956 with Black and his family.

Authorities later discovered that Mrs. Black divorced her husband and she told the investigators that Black and Snow were living together.

Clay said Black had been working in Van Wert for several months.

Riverside officials said they believed that robbery was the motive for the murder. Deputies said Snow had brought an expensive camera and about $4,000 in bonds with him to California.

Blind Composer, 84, Hailed at Banquet

NEW YORK (AP)—A throng of admirers joined Sunday night in singing happy birthday to William C. Handy, the blind composer of "St. Louis Blues."

For the 84-year-old Negro, it was a long way from St. Louis where, he recalled, "I was a tramp."

About 800 persons gathered in the grand ballroom of the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel and paid $50 a plate—proceeds to the W. C. Handy Foundation for the Blind.

Patrolmen Spot Mysterious Red-Green Object in Sky

Two unidentified flying objects virtually had Circleville Police going around in circles Saturday night.

Patrolman Wesley Barton, on desk duty, first spotted one of the brightly colored objects at about 6:30 p. m., hovering in the air while he was looking toward the Courthouse and county jail.

A few minutes later the object was spotted by Patrolman Forrest Sowards while looking west from the Tally-Ho Carry-out, N. Court St.

Sowards looked at the object through binoculars. He said the mysterious solar body appeared to be a bright white revolving inside a red and green glow. The object appeared to be about the size of a grapefruit, the officer said.

TO MAKE the situation more complicated, Sowards said another similar object appeared in the sky directly north of the first one.

Sowards, speaking with sincerity, said both objects remained in the sky until about 10 p. m. Both disappeared at about this time, the light growing fainter and lower to the ground as if the UFO's were moving away from this area.

Not being an expert in gauging air distance, the patrolman pointed out that the objects appeared to be about 500 miles away at the nearest point of observation.

According to police and the State Highway Patrol several Pickaway and Franklin County residents reported seeing the same objects.

School Bus Runs Away, None Hurt

A runaway Walnut Twp. school bus, with 13 children aboard, was damaged last Friday evening when its brakes failed but the passengers received no serious injury.

Grant Brown, driver, was approaching his home on a downgrade, after school Friday, when his brakes failed. He immediately applied his emergency brake but to no avail as the runaway bus began picking up speed. Knowing the road, Brown was able to swerve the bus into a ditch and ended up in his own garden.

The children all were taken to a doctor and no one was found injured, just a few bumps.

'Ivy League' Bank Bandit, Others Arraigned in Court

COLUMBUS (AP)—Bill Evans Sparks of Columbus today pleaded guilty to a federal charge of robbing the Pickerington Bank Co. of $3,644 Sept. 20.

The 24-year-old service station manager, who had been called the "Ivy League bandit" because of the style cap he wore, waived a grand jury investigation when he appeared before Federal Judge Meil G. Underwood.

The judge ordered a probation report be prepared on Sparks, who has no previous criminal record.

In another case, the judge ordered a probation report for Helen L. Roach, 56, of Mount Vernon, who pleaded guilty to three counts of sending defamatory letters through the mail. She is accused of writing the letter to a man and saying his wife was going around with another man.

Russell R. McElroy, airman stationed at Lockbourne Air Force Base, pleaded guilty to two charges of robbing cab drivers at the base. He obtained $13 on Nov. 4 and $9 on Nov. 5. He also will be the subject of a probation report.

Edwin G. Newlin, Licking County farmer, pleaded not guilty to four charges of making false statements in applications for government crop loans. He is accused of saying he owned farm equipment that he did not own.

John S. Wiley, 52, of Lancaster, pleaded guilty to charges of failing to file personal federal income tax returns for 1954 and 1955.

Wiley blamed that on "drinking problem that became progressively worse."

He is a former employee of the Anchor Hocking Glass Co. and his attorney told the judge Wiley "was an unfortunate victim of a habit he could not escape, but he now is making a diligent attempt to rehabilitate himself."

Loren Windom, assistant district attorney, suggested Wiley be fined $5,000. The judge deferred sentencing until later.

Handy Man, 50, Questioned In Macabre Case

Police Say Bachelor Admits Slaying of Businesswoman, 58

PLAINFIELD, Wis. (AP)—The Waushara County district attorney said today that five more human heads have been found on an isolated farm near Plainfield, raising to 10 the number of cadavers discovered so far in the house where a mild-mannered handy man lived alone.

Prosecutor Earl Kileen said that Edward Gein, 50, had broken a stubborn 30-hour silence and admitted that he "knew something" about the macabre collection.

Kileen said that Gein told him he "might of" killed the victims, and admitted the ghastly butchering of a 58-year-old Plainfield businesswoman Saturday.

Gein was asked whether, in connection with the disemboweling of Mrs. Bernice Worden, he had intended to eat his victim.

"On that point he still has a lapse of memory," the district attorney said, adding that "it appears to be cannibalism."

And this community was full of rumor that Gein's bedroom was decorated with furniture upholstered in human skin.

Kileen said Gein would be arraigned on a charge of robbery. Kileen, who earlier had said a first-degree murder warrant would be issued, explained that theft of a cash register and its contents from the hardware store which Mrs. Bernice Worden, 58, a widow, had operated, was the basis for the charge.

THE CASH register was found in Gein's rambling old farm house on an obscure town road seven miles southwest of here.

Mrs. Worden's disappearance Saturday touched off the search that led to the grisly trove.

Her decapitated body was found hung by its heels in the summer kitchen of Gein's home.

Officers said state crime laboratory officials had found four other skulls and other segments of female bodies in the house, mostly in the first-floor bedroom and kitchen which Gein occupied.

The rest of the house still is neatly furnished in a period of 50 years ago. Neighbors said most of the house was little used.

Man Defeated In Foot Race Against Horse

ROOSEVELT, Utah (AP)—The results of that 158-mile horse versus man marathon that ended Sunday apparently didn't settle much. The exhausted foot racer who lost wants to try it again.

"I'll be back again," 24-year-old Brigham Young University student Albert Ray of St. Albans, N. Y., said as he hobbled around on swollen feet.

Ray had to give up 50 miles from here on the Salt Lake City-to-Roosevelt run. He was bushed and the two horsemen he tried to beat were near the finish line.

The race began in the Utah capital city Friday morning and ended 57 hours and 15 minutes later. It snowed at times and the mercury dropped under freezing.

The grueling "marathon" that was supposed to settle an old Western argument about which is faster—man or mount—ended when 76-year-old cowboy Roy Hatch and corider Ray Hall, 18, both of Roosevelt, trotted their steeds down the main street Sunday night and broke a ribbon stretched across an intersection.

The two saddle sore cowpokes indicated they would be happy to ride again in 1958. Then they went to bed.

In the welcoming committee was Ray the runner. When he couldn't make it the last 50 miles here, he piled into a car and whizzed past the riders.

Ray had started the marathon with 18-year-old Terry Jensen of Idaho Falls, Idaho, another student at BYU. Jensen withdrew after the first day with a tight tendon.

"I AM HERE to help if I can to bring about a closer military and political association through NATO (the North Atlantic Treaty Organization)," he said.

He agreed to this at a bipartisan meeting, he said, because of "the gravity of our situation in the world."

Guardedly, in response to Dulles' initial overtures last month, he refused to head up a State Department task force which would write the policy for Eisenhower's personal attendance at a NATO summit meeting next month.

But he agreed to "review and discuss" administration proposals and to support them "when we were in agreement."

In August, White House press secretary James C. Hagerty said Eisenhower wrote Stevenson last week expressing regret he would not be in Washington during Stevenson's visit today.

Eisenhower also said he intends to confer with Stevenson before leaving for the NATO meeting in Paris, Hagerty said, but added no date for such a meeting has been fixed.

In his formal statement, Stevenson said limited Communist aggression is more likely than all-out nuclear-missile war.

French Chieftains in U. S. With Protest on Arms Aid

PARIS (AP) — Foreign Minister Christian Pineau was flying to the United States today to press French objections to American and British arms shipments to Tunisia.

Unofficial sources in London said British Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd might join Pineau and Secretary of State Dulles for the talks in Washington.

"The aim of my trip is to ameliorate things, to limit the damage," Pineau said.

"It is necessary to think of the existence and the strengthening of the Atlantic Pact. We intend to insist on finding a system which will assure the solidarity of NATO in all fields."

He said he would tell Dulles about "the uneasiness of the French government and show him how lively the reaction of public and parliamentary opinion has been about the delivery of arms to Tunisia."

Pineau is scheduled to see Dulles in Washington Tuesday.

INFORMED sources said Pineau will call for an end to the arms shipments and full U. S. support for France in revolt-ridden Algeria.

The sources said Dulles most likely will refuse to give any guarantee which in effect would give France control over U. S. relations with Tunisia, a former French protectorate.

Although the United States may support France in the forthcoming U. N. debate on Algeria, the informants said, it is also unlikely Washington will extend unconditional support for French actions in Algeria.

France's main fear is that the Tunisian arms will turn up in the hands of the Algerian rebels, with whom Tunisia's government is sympathetic.

Editor's Note: Following is the first in a series of special articles by the chief Associated Press science reporter.

By ALTON BLAKESLEE
NEW YORK (AP) — Scientists are strange and puzzling people for one simple reason—they are human.

They are ordinary people with specialized knowledge in one or more sciences.

But they are bearing a cross of considerable public opinion which thinks scientists are oddballs, very evil or very dedicated to good, impractical, superhuman, absent-minded, self-centered, godless, or dull.

Surveys show 25 to nearly 50 per cent of teen-agers and adults hold such opinions.

This doesn't make scientists happy, naturally. They say these attitudes don't hurt them personally so much as science generally, and the decisions of youngsters whether to become scientists. Russia encourages no such views about science and scientists.

Dr. Ernest Pollard, chairman of Yale's biophysics department, played a part in creating prejudices against scientists, says anthropologist Margaret Mead.

So have concepts drawn from TV, newspapers, radio, teachers, gossip, and behavior of some scientists themselves.

Meet many scientists and their common denominator of humanity becomes clearly apparent.

Some are avid football or baseball fans, or love music, books, poker, or playing tennis or pool. Others like bridge, growing roses, seeing plays, travel, swimming.

Many are gay and witty, some quiet, some shy, or all these things at different times. Only a very few are stuffed shirts or snobs who think you ought to know a lot about their subject or speak their language in order to be intelligent—though they know precious little about other people's specialties.

They love their work, especially the good ones, and are wrapped up in it as is anyone who likes his job. They find their work exciting—that's why they chose it.

Dr. Ernest Pollard, chairman of Yale's biophysics department, tells a story illustrating how easy it is to absorb popular concepts about scientists in general.

A high school girl worked one summer in his laboratory as a dishwasher and assistant to a technician. Among eggs being used for research, one hatched a baby chick, which became her pet.

One day it tried to follow her into an elevator, and fell four floors into the well below.

"She was terribly impressed that scientists in our lab solved the not-easy problem of rescue in a few minutes through intelligence, brawn and kindness," Dr. Pollard says. "She says it was an eye-opener how human and nice scientists are, not like the popular pictures of them."

Ernie Pollard doesn't say so, but it's also a tribute that at home he's regarded as a human being, father and husband rather than a scientist.

For the young girl was his own daughter, Carol.

Patrolmen Spot Mysterious Red-Green Object in Sky

Two unidentified flying objects virtually had Circleville Police going around in circles Saturday night.

Patrolman Wesley Barton, on desk duty, first spotted one of the brightly colored objects at about 6:30 p. m., hovering in the air while he was looking toward the Courthouse and county jail.

A few minutes later the object was spotted by Patrolman Forrest Sowards while looking west from the Tally-Ho Carry-out, N. Court St.

Sowards looked at the object through binoculars. He said the mysterious solar body appeared to be a bright white revolving inside a red and green glow. The object appeared to be about the size of a grapefruit, the officer said.

TO MAKE the situation more complicated, Sowards said another similar object appeared in the sky directly north of the first one.

Sowards, speaking with sincerity, said both objects remained in the sky until about 10 p. m. Both disappeared at about this time, the light growing fainter and lower to the ground as if the UFO's were moving away from this area.

Not being an expert in gauging air distance, the patrolman pointed out that the objects appeared to be about 500 miles away at the nearest point of observation.

According to police and the State Highway Patrol several residents reported seeing the same objects.

School Bus Runs Away, None Hurt

A runaway Walnut Twp. school bus, with 13 children aboard, was damaged last Friday evening when its brakes failed but the passengers received no serious injury.

Grant Brown, driver, was approaching his home on a downgrade, after school Friday, when his brakes failed. He immediately applied his emergency brake but to no avail as the runaway bus began picking up speed. Knowing the bus into a ditch and ended up in his own garden.

The children all were taken to a doctor and no one was found injured, just a few bumps.

'Ivy League' Bank Bandit, Others Arraigned in Court

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Bill Evans Sparks of Columbus today pleaded guilty to a federal charge of robbing the Pickerington Bank Co. of $3,644 Sept. 20.

The 24-year-old service station manager, who had been called the "Ivy League bandit" because of the style cap he wore, waived a grand jury investigation when he appeared before Federal Judge Meil G. Underwood.

The judge ordered a probation report be prepared on Sparks, who has no previous criminal record.

In another case, the judge ordered a probation report for Helen L. Roach, 36, of Mount Vernon, who pleaded guilty to three counts of sending defamatory letters through the mail. She is accused of writing the letter to a man and saying his wife was going around with another man.

Handy Man, 50, Questioned In Macabre Case

Police Say Bachelor Admits Slaying of Businesswoman, 58

PLAINFIELD, Wis. (AP) — The Waushara County district attorney said today that five more human heads have been found on an isolated farm near Plainfield, raising to 10 the number of cadavers discovered so far in the house where a mild-mannered handy man lived alone.

Prosecutor Earl Kileen said that Edward Gein, 50, had broken a stubborn 30-hour silence and admitted that he "knew something" about the macabre collection.

Kileen said that Gein told him he "might of" killed the victims, and admitted the ghastly butchering of a 58-year-old Plainfield businesswoman Saturday.

Gein was asked whether, in connection with the disemboweling of Mrs. Bernice Worden, he had intended to eat his victim.

"On that point he still has a lapse of memory," the district attorney said, adding that "it appears to be cannibalism."

And this community was full of rumor that Gein's bedroom was decorated with furniture upholstered in human skin.

Kileen said Gein would be arraigned on a charge of robbery. Kileen, who earlier had said a first-degree murder warrant would be issued, explained that theft of a cash register and its contents from the hardware store which Mrs. Bernice Worden, 58, a widow, had operated, was the basis for the charge.

THE CASH register was found in Gein's rambling old farm house on an obscure town road seven miles southwest of here.

Mrs. Worden's disappearance Saturday touched off the search that led to the grisly trove.

Her decapitated body was found hung by its heels in the summer kitchen of Gein's home.

Officers said state crime laboratory officials had found four other skulls and other segments of female bodies in the house, mostly in the first-floor bedroom and kitchen which Gein occupied.

The rest of the house still is neatly furnished in a period of 50 years ago. Neighbors said most of the house was little used.

Man Defeated In Foot Race Against Horse

ROOSEVELT, Utah (AP) — The results of that 158-mile horse versus man marathon that ended Sunday apparently didn't settle much. The exhausted foot racer who lost wants to try it again.

"I'll be back again," 24-year-old Brigham Young University student Albert Ray of St. Albans, N. Y., said as he hobbled around on swollen feet.

Ray had to give up 50 miles from here on the Salt Lake City-to-Roosevelt run. He was bushed and the two horses he tried to beat were near the finish line.

The race began in the Utah capital city Friday morning and ended 57 hours and 15 minutes later. It snowed at times and the mercury dropped under freezing.

The grueling "marathon" that was supposed to settle an old Western argument about which is faster — man or mount — ended when 76-year-old cowboy Roy Hatch and corider Ray Hall, 18, both of Roosevelt, trotted their steeds down the main street Sunday night and broke a ribbon stretched across an intersection.

The two saddle sore cowpokes indicated they would be happy to ride again in 1958. Then they went to bed.

In the welcoming committee was Ray the runner. When he couldn't make it the last 50 miles here, he piled into a car and whizzed past the riders.

Ray had started the marathon with 18-year-old Terry Jensen of Idaho Falls, Idaho, another student at BYU. Jensen withdrew after the first day with a tight tendon.

Area Drivers Fined, Jailed

Derby Man Faces Double Accusation

Two motorists appeared in Circleville Municipal Court Friday on accusations of driving under the influence of intoxicants.

One of the drivers, Charles L. Puckett, 49, Derby, was booked on a double accusation. He was fined $200 and costs, sentenced to 10 days in jail and had his driver's license suspended subject to state law. He also was fined $10 and costs for driving left of center.

Judge Walter Shea suspended $100 of Puckett's fine and seven days of the jail term with provision that he maintain good behavior for one year. The man was arrested by the State Highway Patrol.

The other intoxicated driving count was against Cecil P. Roshon, 50, Route 4, Circleville. He was fined $200 and costs, sentenced to 10 days in jail and had his driver's license suspended according to state law.

THE JUDGE suspended $100 of the fine and seven days of the jail sentence. Roshon was arrested by city police.

Donald R. Gaines, 21, Route 2, Circleville, was arrested by the sheriff's department on a double traffic violation. He was fined $50 and costs and his driver's license was suspended for 90 days on two counts of reckless operation.

Other motorists arrested by the State Highway Patrol were: Hanson Jackson, 39, Reynoldsburg, and Norman L. Thompson, 29, Laurelville; each fined $25 and costs for speeding at 75 miles per hour in a 50 mile zone.

Clyde C. Perry, 37, Cleveland; $15 and costs for speeding at 75 miles per hour.

Anthony Masack Jr., 30, Mentor; $10 and costs for speeding at 60 miles per hour.

David A. Daniels, 23, Chillicothe, was fined $15 and costs for speeding at 50 miles per hour in a 35 mile zone. He was arrested by city police.

Borrowers and Lenders

BEAVER, Okla. (U)—The Beaver Fire Department has sent out an appeal for all those who borrowed equipment to return it. It was pointed out that there might be a fire sometime and there would be nothing with which to fight it.

Booster Club To Honor CHS Football Team

The Circleville Booster club will honor members of the 1957 Circleville High School football team tomorrow night in the basement of the First Methodist Church, W. Main St. Activity is scheduled to get underway at 6:30 p. m.

A special highlight will be the Booster Club's annual awarding of the most valuable player trophy. The selection will be made by a Booster Club committee and CHS coaches.

The coveted award is based on playing ability, sportsmanship, attitude and other essentials necessary to make an outstanding footballer. Last year the trophy was awarded to Gary Phifer.

Frank Marion, 217 N. Scioto St., popular local toastmaster, will serve as master of ceremonies.

ACCORDING to Booster officials varsity, reserve and freshmen players and the CHS corps of cheerleaders will be honored. Club spokesmen said a few tickets will be available tomorrow night at the door. Members also are selling tickets now.

Communist Chiefs Continuing Parley

MOSCOW (U)—Leaders of the Communist world headed for Prague today to continue conferences on Red solidarity.

A series of Moscow discussions apparently aimed at greater Communist unity ended Sunday night with a Kremlin banquet. Soviet Party Secretary Nikita Khrushchev and Communist China's Mao Tse-tung both spoke, but the content of their speeches was not disclosed immediately.

Western diplomats believe the Moscow and Prague sessions probably point toward greater cooperation among Communist parties and on government levels—politically, economically and militarily.

Dawson Gets Term In County Jail

Richard E. Dawson of 143 E. Mill St. was sentenced last week to six months in the Pickaway County jail on the charge of attempted jail break. Sentence was made by Judge William Ammer of the Pickaway County Common Pleas Court.

Dawson also pled guilty to the charge of forgery and uttering a forged instrument. Judge Ammer placed him on five-years probation. Dawson had just returned from the Lima State Hospital where he was found sane.

Mayflower II Ends New York Exhibition

NEW YORK (U)—Public display of the Mayflower II in New York has ended after 4½ months during which an estimated half-million persons visited the replica of the Pilgrim ship. Today the square-rigged bark goes under tow from its Manhattan pier to a Bethlehem Steel Co. shipyard in Brooklyn for caulking, then she will leave for Plymouth, Mass., to be turned over in a Thanksgiving Day ceremony.

Solon Checks Birdbaths

PORTALES, N. M. (U)—When a Portales News-Tribune headline blared "Senator Dennis Chavez Inspects City's Birdbaths," it wasn't a gag.

Attention of the senior New Mexico Democratic senator was directed to a recently completed urban route of U. S. Highway 70 through the city which fails to drain properly. The resultant pools have been labeled "birdbaths."

FOUNDATION—This big 25-acre "pyramid" carved from a mountainside in Caracas, Venezuela, is foundation for a $25,000,000 business center to be completed in 1960. The building will be spiral shaped, or helicoid. It will rise to 365 feet, will be 25 stories on one side, 10 on the other, and topped by an aluminum dome. Venezuelan architect Jorge Gutierrez thunk it up. (International)

Handy Man, 50, Revenue Service Explains 'Expense Account' Estimates

since Gein's mother died many years ago.

The search for Mrs. Worden began like this:

Bernard Muschinski, who operates a service station across the street from the large Worden hardware and implement store, saw Mrs. Worden in her store about 8 a. m. Saturday. However, at 9:30 a. m. he noticed that the store was locked. Since this was the opening of the deer season, a time when many small businesses close while the proprietors go hunting, the locked store excited no comment until evening.

MRS. WORDEN's son, Frank, arrived at the station, and Muschinski had asked him whether his mother had gone hunting. Worden said she had not and became concerned. He went home for his keys to the store.

When the store was opened, blood was found splashed on the floor and the cash register.

Frank recalled that Gein had been in the store several times during the last week and had declared Friday night he would return Saturday morning to buy a gallon of antifreeze. A sales slip for one gallon of antifreeze was the last item Mrs. Worden wrote before she disappeared.

Her son told Sheriff Art Schley of the incident, and Schley went to the Gein farmhouse, where he found the body.

Gein was taken into custody at a nearby county store where he had gone to eat supper.

Egypt Cuts Down On Jordan Jibes

CAIRO (U)—A truce prevailed today in Egypt's propaganda war against Jordan's King Hussein. Whether it will be a permanent cease-fire was uncertain.

Reliable sources said Saudi Arabia and Iraq, pleading in the name of Arab unity, had persuaded President Nasser's government to halt most of his press and radio barrage against Hussein.

Jordan had asked for other Arab states to intervene.

Egypt began the vitriolic campaign early this month. It had been expected since April, when Hussein dismissed a pro-Egyptian government.

Near Yet so Far

RICHMOND, Ind. (U)—Fire Capt. Fred Klotz had a fire company with him while returning from a fire but he didn't get any help when his car began to smoke.

The truck ahead of him couldn't hear his calls for aid. He telephoned headquarters and the truck returned to put out an ignition fire in the chief's car.

his employer repays him must receive as income the money he received in payment. He then may deduct his expenses. But that requirement has been generally ignored by many with small expense accounts, and the revenue service has not complained.

The revenue service has changed 1957 income tax forms to require listing totals of these items on the form itself instead of only on a separate sheet of paper. That led to reports of an intensive crackdown, which IRS officials sought informally to contradict with word that little change was anticipated.

For those reporting expenses, said Harrington, "some accounts would obviously have to be estimates, or at least not supported by vouchers." On the returns, he added, only lump sums need be used for car expenses, hotel costs and other categories. More details will be required only if the return is questioned.

Asked what should be done by a taxpayer who had kept no records because he didn't know he had to this year, Harrington said, "He could rely on secondary evidence (estimates) of the type I previously discussed."

He said the service will not require "any more detailed information to support these claims for deductions than we have in the past."

'Dear Ruth' Due Thursday

Circleville High School Junior Class will present the first of two performances of "Dear Ruth" Thursday evening in the school auditorium.

A second showing of the two-act comedy will be presented Friday night.

Tickets may be obtained from any Junior Class member or at Rexall Drugs from 12:30 to 9 p. m. every day.

Besides being an enjoyable comedy the audience will be amused by the antics of a fun-loving judge, simple-minded mother, an average, unpredictable teenage girl, a stuffy bank employee, a sweet-innocent young lady and a much-loved Air Force sergeant.

4 To Attend OEA Meeting

Three delegates from the Pickaway County Teachers Assn. and one from Circleville will attend the annual meeting of the Ohio Education Assn. to be held in Columbus, Nov. 21-23.

Walter Hancy, superintendent of Salter Creek Twp. and Dehl Renick, fifth grade teacher from Jackson are two of the delegates. County superintendent, George McDowell was notified last week that the county was eligible for a third representative and this will possibly be Lawrence Fullen of Ashville.

Mrs. Jeanette Chilcote was first alternate but is unable to attend. Cecil Roebuck will represent city schools at the meeting.

During the business sessions delegates will elect new officers, consider seven amendments to the OEA constitution, a revised code of ethics, and reports from 12 committees and commissions.

Foreign Trade, Aid Battles Shaping Up

Hot Tariff Fight Seen in Congress As Red Offers Mount

By SAM DAWSON
NEW YORK (AP) — U.S. foreign trade and aid policy is getting a new look today on the eve of what may become the hottest congressional fight over tariffs in 25 years.

A U.S. State Department official reports the Communist countries have more than 100 trade and payments agreements with underdeveloped non-Communist countries. The Reds offer increased trade, loans and technical assistance.

The White House is expected to ask Congress for a step up in foreign aid next year, citing the missile peril. It is also going to fight hard for a five year extension of the reciprocal trade program, which is under heavy fire from the protectionist clans since Smoot-Hawley tariff days.

Benjamin F. Fairless, president of the American Iron & Steel Institute, tells some 2,000 leaders in business, finance, shipping, education and government meeting here for the 44th National Foreign Trade Convention: "Our secret weapon is trade—trade under our system of capitalism and competitive enterprise—accompanied by capital investment and technical aid in undeveloped countries."

Fairless, once head of U.S. Steel, urges the business leaders to see that private capital be the big weapon—not taxpayers' money in the form of government aid.

Foreign traders are meeting at a critical time for their business. The Department of Commerce reports U.S. exports have been declining for the last six months. Part of this is due to a growing inability of other nations to pay for American goods, and part to the increasing competition from German and Japanese manufacturers.

France's faltering franc and England's recently bolstered pound worry traders and international bankers. What the infant common market in Western Europe will do to America's trade there is still in doubt.

Russian trade competition isn't much of a threat yet but some American businessmen think the day is coming when it could be. At home the battle lines are being tightly drawn over the about-to-expire Reciprocal Trade Agreements Act. An increasing number of industries complain of being hurt by foreign competition and clamor for higher tariff or import quota barriers.

The administration, on the other hand, is more anxious with each new Sputnik to build friendlier relations with our allies, even though they be trade competitors. Lower tariffs would do this and the White House hopes, so would increased foreign aid.

More Lebanon Prison Bids Due on Dec. 19

COLUMBUS (AP)—The state will open bids Dec. 19 on the second construction phase of the $12 million reformatory which is being built near Lebanon.

Included will be five cellblocks, a hospital, auditorium-gymnasium and service buildings. The institution will hold 1,500 inmates when it is finished in 1960.

To Be Accurate

Eat Shellfish, Deer on Holiday

By JERRY KLEIN
Written Especially for Central Press and This Newspaper

SHELLFISH and deer meat—that's what you ought to eat to celebrate Thanksgiving in the traditional way. Many historians deny that turkey was on the Pilgrims' menu when they marked the original Thanksgiving, and neither was pumpkin pie nor many other delicacies that we'll eat in the mistaken belief that they were enjoyed first by the men of the Mayflower.

In fact, many of our beliefs about Thanksgiving apparently are without foundation. In fact, take the traditional belief that the Mayflower first touched the shores of the New World at Plymouth, Mass., site of the famous Plymouth Rock.

Actually, the Pilgrims first sighted land at Truro on Cape Cod in November, 1620. The next day a group came ashore at Provincetown, and it wasn't for a month that the founding fathers finally sailed to Plymouth.

Of course, they hadn't intended to land in New England at all. Originally, their destination was Virginia where another colony, Jamestown, had been in existence for 13 years.

A famous poem tells how the Mayflower's passengers came ashore "on a stern and rockbound coast." In reality, the Massachusetts coastline was—and still is—quite level and sandy.

AS FOR PLYMOUTH ROCK, that's another Thanksgiving tradition that modern historians reject. It wasn't until 1741—more than a century after the Pilgrims' arrival—that a local resident identified the rock as the one on which the pioneers set foot in coming ashore.

Today the Rock is sheltered by a Grecian temple placed over it by the Colonial Dames of America, and tourists may gaze in awe, but not touch it. However, there are "no historical facts to support the belief that the Pilgrims landed on this particular rock." Still and all, Massachusetts will celebrate this event come Dec. 21, Forefathers' Day.

The Mayflower wasn't even the first ship to enter Plymouth harbor. Vessels from three other nations already had dropped anchor there, according to historians. The shore had been charted and the waters sounded long before the pioneers arrived.

Incidentally, about half the passengers on the Mayflower were Pilgrims who had broken from the Church of England. The other half were adventurers, businessmen and servants. The famous Miles Standish wasn't a Pilgrim, but a professional soldier hired to keep order among the colonists.

It's said the Pilgrims were "proud that none of them had blue blood," but some of their descendants worked out family coats-of-arms with four lions, rampant. These emblems are not recognized by the official authority in such genealogical matters, England's Royal College of Herald.

This Thanksgiving also will no doubt see the Pilgrims mixed up with the Puritans. However, the Puritans were still loyal members of the Anglican church who preferred to "purify it from within rather than leave it."

THE STRAITLACED Puritans were different from the Pilgrims in dress, manner and worship. In addition, they came to America in 1628, eight years after the Mayflower, and settled not in Plymouth, but in Salem.

All in all, we have so many misconceptions that Thanksgiving might well be called America's craziest, mixed-up holiday!

"Mary Haworth's Mail"

DEAR MARY HAWORTH: You said in a recent column: "The person who aims to be all things to all people has no viewpoint, but only the self-serving purpose of trying to please. And the person who tries to please everybody, pleases nobody."

That flash of truth describes me exactly, as I was a few years ago. I babied and flattered my husband, in the naive belief that this was "loving" him. And I became progressively appalled at his increasing impatience, lack of respect for me and lack of understanding or kindness towards anyone—except as a matter of surface politeness.

But as he grew older, I started to grow up. He fell ill; and something our pastor said, about "being true to oneself"—during a period of extreme stress for me—started a revolution in my thinking. I had regarded myself as a Christian; but was I?

Reading the bible, I was struck by Paul's counsel to one of the early churches, in the first years of Christianity advising against letting the younger women join at all because they would be more interested in pleasing their husbands than in pleasing God.

What could he mean, I asked myself. Weren't you supposed to try to please your husband? It began to dawn upon me that I was woefully ignorant, and that my Bible had been gathering dust for a number of years. It hasn't been dusty since, and won't be again, thank God.

In studying the meaning of love, the real kind, and working it out in relation to persons I cared about I found it for myself. Any woman can. Every woman needs to. And when she has learned to understand integrity, she will know how to help her husband and their marriage—if God is willing.

P. V.

DEAR P.V.: Young wives trying to get the pitch of pleasing their husband while pleasing God, or vice versa, will find much enlightenment and practical guidance in Wingfield Hope's book "Life Together" (Sheed & Ward).

Discussing "Some Aspects of Unity," the author cracks down on the mistaken notion that catering to human selfishness is a virtue.

Says Wingfield Hope: "Some people appear to assume that it is mainly the wife's responsibility to be self-sacrificing, tactful and adaptable when the irritations of the average married life are first experienced. I have no patience with this idea."

"It took two to make the marriage and now these two are one. Therefore they owe a mutual selfishness which must be directed to the establishing of their joint welfare. Neither owes more than the other, nor less. There must be sacrifice in married life, but it must be the kind which is best for the whole unity, calculated to bring out the best in both partners."

Firmly we are told that the person who tries to shine as a model of self-sacrifice in marriage is all too likely to foster selfishness in the partner, and thereby cheat both of a good relationship. Just as neither partner should pray or act selfishly, so neither should carry "unselfishness" to the point of courting self-effacement.

Evidently it was understanding of this sort that dawned on you, after your pastor's perceptive comment started a revolution in your thinking, that gave you the courage to consult your feelings and respect yourself, in your dealings with other people. To refresh your mind on what you've learned, and how you've grown, you might enjoy reading "Life Together"—hailed by critics as a "thoroughly sane and creative treatment of Christian marriage."

2 Men Questioned In Cincy Shootings

CINCINNATI (AP)—Two men are being held for questioning in separate fatal shootings here Sunday.

William Adams, 43, was killed by a shotgun blast as he sat in his car in a suburb. Deputy sheriffs said witnesses told them the slayer was John Hearn, 40. He surrendered to sheriff's investigator Carl Meyer late Sunday night.

Deputies said they were told the men argued while Adams had his car stopped at an intersection.

The other man killed was Robert West, 30. He was shot to death in his West End apartment. Detectives said Clarence Moore, 51, another occupant of the building, told them the shooting occurred as the two men argued over some defective plumbing.

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—For the seventh time in recent years, a car smashed into Jim Donnelly's house Sunday.

"This is getting monotonous," gumbled Donnelly as he eyed a cracked foundation.

His home is on Hattie Street. Cars hitting a traffic island on upper Market Street slant into it.

Out-of-Towner Gives Views Of Current Broadway Shows

By BOB THOMAS
NEW YORK (AP) — An out-of-towner's views of the Broadway shows —

"Auntie Mame" shows how a wild character beautifully played can carry a show. The play is no great shakes, but Mame is a rich, wacky character expertly done by Rosalind Russell.

"The Bells Are Ringing" also proves the triumph of personality over material. The book and songs are slight, but Judy Holliday and Sydney Chaplin put the show across with great skill and charm.

"The Cave Dwellers" has been hailed by the critics as William Saroyan at his best. Audiences must wonder. Saroyan has provided the players with some impressively theatrical scenes, but the over-all effect is one of puzzlement.

"Compulsion" is Strong Stuff. A sprawling, unwieldy play about the Loeb-Leopold case, it explores remote reaches of human behavior. The cast is superb, and the material is absorbing, if seldom moving.

"Happy Hunting" presents that rarity — an old-fashioned musical without problems or social significance. It would be inconsequential except for the commanding presence of the musical comedy queen, Ethel Merman.

"Jamaica" takes painless cruise to the Caribbean in the handsome company of Lena Horne and Ricardo Montalban. The leads are in top form, the production is eye-appealing, the story is nothing. But the Harold Arlen score holds it all together.

"Li'l Abner" is a fast, tight musical that presents the comic strip characters in faithful reproduction. What saves the whole thing from being grotesque is the pleasant goodwill of the players, especially Peter Palmer, a ringer for the Dogpatch hero.

"Long Day's Journey Into Night" is Eugene O'Neill's rambling reminiscence of his tortured family. Fredric March, Florence Eldridge and Jason Robards make it alive and compelling.

"The Most Happy Fella" offers opera on a Broadway basis. The Frank Loesser score presents top arias which are beautifully sung. As with most operas, the book is inclined to be a bother.

"My Fair Lady" is — well, "My Fair Lady," that's all. Most of the originals are still in the cast and they are sublime, as is the show.

"Tunnel of Love" offers suburban sex played for laughs by Tom Ewell, master of the jiggle, the grin and the sly glance. Pleasant fun.

Baldwin-Wallace Delays FM Start

CLEVELAND (AP)—Baldwin-Wallace College's new FM radio station WBWC, which was to have started test broadcasts Sunday, won't go on the air until after Thanksgiving, the school announced.

A misunderstanding of Federal Communications Commission regulations is given as the reason for the changed plans. The 10-watt station, operating on 88.3 megacycles, will be heard within 10 miles of the suburban Berea campus.

Married and the father of two girls, Roger practices 8 to 10 hours a day in a room-within-a-room in the basement of his New York home. He came up the hard way, via bars, night clubs and Arthur Godfrey's Talent Scouts.

How did his father feel about his playing in drinking joints? Roger asked him once. His father's reply: "You take care of them on Saturday night, and I'll take care of them on Sunday."

June Allyson in town for the NBC spec. She had only a six-minute scene from "Our Town" but was scared to death. It's her first appearance without retakes in almost 15 years. The pay was considerable balm for her nervousness. It's reportedly $40,000.

French Premier Has Problems

Commiserations, rather than congratulations, are probably in order for the new premier of France, Felix Gaillard.

Gaillard, only 38 years old, was undoubtedly chosen because of his recognized ability as a financial expert. Gaillard, virtually unknown up to six months ago, had shot to such prominence that when the French were unable to form a cabinet for 37 days he seemed the one man—despite his relative youth—on whom many divergent parties could agree.

Recent stresses and strains in the French economy left no doubt of the need for an expert financial hand at the helm. But whether the French Assembly and the French people are ready to swallow the bitter pill of higher taxes and similar unpleasant remedies for their difficulties will tell the tale on the length Gaillard is able to hold his government together.

Unfortunately, an equally grave crisis for France is the matter of Algeria. And here Gaillard appears to have no solutions except the continuation of the ruinously expensive way by the French army against the Algerian rebels.

But it is difficult to see how the financial problems of France can be solved as long as she is pouring out $4 million a day in the quicksands of the Algerian War.

Gaillard said in his acceptance speech in the French Assembly that the only trouble with France is political. But whether the politicians will stand still while he takes some of the steps necessary is doubtful.

Federal Advocates

Most citizens are favorably disposed toward the theory of more governmental authority and revenue at the state and local levels and less at the federal level. Officials of the AFL-CIO labor organizations do not see it that way. They say this is a callous scheme to undermine essential federal program.

The proposal, labor leaders say, "could strike fire with Congress with disastrous results to cities throughout the country." It is pointed out that federal grants-in-aid now amount to more than $3 billion a year. The AFL-CIO favors more, not less, federal grants.

Where Is the Old Hired Man?

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP) — The hired man began to disappear a generation ago from the American scene, and left a gap in family life that has never quite been filled. There is none to take his place.

The hired man at one time was a neighborhood resource, the poor relation by loyalty but not by blood of a dozen or so families he had adopted.

Any family in the community could ask the hired man to work for them. He generally worked only for the families he chose.

His pay was invariably low. Nobody spoiled him with money. Nobody expected him to brood over the fact his fate was to brush the dust from the welcome mat spread for other feet.

Often he would work for sick people, who having survived local medicine and escaped the local undertaker would victoriously call in the hired man to brighten up the place to make them feel better.

The hired man knew that sick people, getting well, are helped by seeing their belongings in order, the yard clean, the sidewalk swept, brass knocker on the front door brightly polished. It makes them feel they have more of a hold on life.

But the hired man wasn't just a crutch for the sick getting well. He was also a kind of measurement of the wealth of the healthy. He did the jobs they could do themselves but were too busy to do or too proud to do in public.

Actually there wasn't much he couldn't do. But in those days the hired man was generally an outdoor-working man. When he came indoors it was usually to eat in the kitchen.

He didn't work every day because he was a lone man, unmarried and not wanting to be married, always knew, whether he wanted to earn it or not, there was a welcome for him in many kitchens.

Most wives were glad to feed him—and for several reasons. For one thing, he was different from their husbands. He was male and independent as their husbands were, but if he would not obey a woman, he would listen to her, or appear to.

He took his time about his work; nobody could push him there. He would stop and talk to the kids. He would stay in a warm kitchen on a cold day and listen to a wife's complaints as long as she served food or poured coffee. The main thing was he was company.

He wasn't dependable in an emergency, because he didn't live by your emergency. But when he was actually there he was as dependable as your need required. He could stop a leaking faucet, coax a reluctant handle of a bathroom fixture back into action, even weed gardens where he planted nothing himself.

Whatever happened to the old-fashioned hired man?

He specialized. Today one hired man is hired to fix the television set. Another hired man is hired to fix one part of the plumbing, and still another to meet another plumbing problem. A fourth hired man can repair short circuits and is an authority on light bulbs, up to 100 watts.

Who's To Blame for Sputnik?

By George Sokolsky

Everybody has his own culprit. Former President Truman says that Sputnik came first because great American scientists were smeared.

They took refuge in the universities, poor dears! What did they do there, sit on their hands? If what he called smeared ones were truly devoted to the truth, they labored in its vineyards no matter what the circumstances.

Another says that Sputnik came first because we permitted Soviet Russia to steal the best German scientists whereas we should have stolen them when we had a chance. Another says that it is all due to the Rosenbergs and Dr. Klaus Fuchs and other spies. Another says that it was because the Democrats were in office and that they were soft on Communists and still another says that Eisenhower is President and he is soft on Communists.

Some educators say that we turn out too few scientists and engineers and other educators say that too few students have their minds disciplined by Latin, Greek and the great philosophers.

You can take your pick of a hundred explanations, alibis, sure-cures, proposals, plans and elixirs and you will be as correct as you will be wrong. Actually, there is no reason why the Russians should not have come up with Sputnik first. No nation has a monopoly of brains, intelligence, curiosity, or devotion to great causes.

We have confused our devotion to a high standard of individual living with an assumption that clothes maketh the man. A sloppy-looking Einstein, in baggy trousers, black cardigan, yellow shoes and unkempt hair, could be a tremendous intellect. His mind was given to him by God, the Divine Intelligence; his clothes he bought in a store.

We have also permitted ourselves to believe that the possession of money can be equated as evidence of the possession of intelligence. The two are unrelated. Men possess wealth because of financial ability, skill, inheritance, cupidity, dishonesty, corruption, parsimony, luck. Intelligence is a product of knowledge, intuition, imagination, discipline. Some rich men are intelligent; some are fools except that they know a particular trick very much as a dog or a monkey can be taught a trick. Of course, the easiest way to come into possession of a fortune is to marry a rich girl, but that may require charm, not intellect.

The American view that the only incentive for creative work is to accumulate more money can no longer be sustained as a universal law. Soviet Russia has established by evidence that men will do the same type of work that Americans do for monetary rewards, for no better reason than that that is their work.

In a word, the managerial class in Soviet Russia, while amply rewarded, cannot accumulate private wealth as our managerial personnel do here, but they show the same initiative, the same inventive power, the same capacity for work.

It is not only necessary to make this point, but to understand its significance. Sputnik represents a kind of triumph but it is not as much a triumph of science as it is a triumph of management in industry. It is this that should be startling to us; not that Sputnik orbited and encircled the earth but that Sputnik could be made without the incentives of private industry.

It is that that we have up to now believed to be impossible. But we cannot deny Sputnik. By every pragmatic test, Sputnik has established itself and it has also established the fact that what we call slave labor can produce as well as free labor, that what we call Socialism can produce as well as what we call capitalism can. And that being so, we need to search carefully to discover the essential difference between our way of life and the Soviet way of life to restate and confirm our preference.

Essentially that difference is personal liberty. If that is correct then we have to ask whether personal liberty is a virtue and if it is, is it a virtue worth preserving. And if it is a virtue worth preserving, then it must be preserved absolutely and not relatively.

In a word, because of Sputnik, we Americans have much thinking to do and we need to think fast and furiously. Sputnik is a managerial revolution which cannot be ignored even by the most wilful.

BIGGEST GROSS for an animal act at a midwestern carnival was rung up by a novelty: a tiger and a sheep performing tricks in the same cage.

"Amazing," commented a visitor. "Do those oddly assorted creatures always get along so amiably together?"

"They do have a bit of a dust-up every now and then," admitted the trainer, "but we don't let that bother us. We just buy a new sheep."

There was a vaudeville act in the good old days who never lacked for work. Why? He was a clown, a comedian, and an absolutely fool-proof "audience chaser." Crowds poured out of the theater the minute he began his act—which made room for new ticket buyers waiting to get in!

There's a reason, maintains Anne Baxter, why so many Hollywood big-shots are overweight. The only exercise they get is jumping to conclusions.

Cancer Ill Can Be Eased

By Herman N. Bundesen, M.D.

Saving lives is a doctor's main job. Yet he still must use all his medical skill and all the human kindness at his command when treating persons he knows he cannot save.

With all the modern drugs we have available today, a doctor never is helpless. There's always something he can do, even if it is merely to relieve pain or instill a note of hope in a patient or his family, for the time being at least.

Advanced cases of cancer, for example, usually will be fatal unless the entire malignant tumor can be removed. If this is impossible, a doctor just doesn't abandon the patient as hopeless. As a matter of fact, quite frequently it is cases such as these which tax a physician's ingenuity.

If radiation will do any good, it should be tried by all means. Often it can relieve pain, or shrink the tumor, thereby reducing pressure.

In some cases, such as in cervical cancer, radiation may even provide a permanent cure.

There are any number of drugs which might be tried. Among the chemical agents doctors often use are nitrogen mustard, myleran, Fowler's solution, triethylenemelamine and triethylenethiophosphoramide.

Also, there are the two purine antagonists, urethane and mercaptopurine, and the folic acid antagonists, aminopterin and amethopterin.

ACTH and cortisone also may be valuable aids in treating a cancer patient. Not only do they often have a direct effect upon the tumor cells, but they also alleviate undesirable side effects of some of the other drugs.

Now these chemical compounds won't help all cases of cancer. In fact, they are most often employed in treating lymphomas and leukemias. Myleran, for instance, gives hope of lengthening life in cases of myelogenous leukemia.

There's one thing I want all of you to remember:

Today, advanced cases of cancer may seem to be hopeless. But tomorrow we may have the cure. We'll get it some day. Who can tell when it will be?

Question and Answer

K. V.: My 12-year-old daughter has a great deal of hair on her upper lip and arms. How do you recommend it be removed?

Answer: Usually, it is best to withhold treatment with electrolysis until puberty is reached. The child probably can be helped by bleaching the hairs or by rubbing them with fine pumice stone or with sandpaper made for this purpose.

The World Today

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON (AP) — We're getting self-conscious. We've been busting our buttons—talking and performing—to show how strong we are ever since Russia fired the Sputniks.

But we didn't have the right muscles at the right time. The Russians won a propaganda victory.

Allies and neutrals were left with visions of Russian missiles and hydrogen warheads dropping in their flowerpots.

Something had to be done to reassure friends, warn foes. A whole batch of statements and performances followed, none as spectacular as Sputnik.

Last Wednesday Gen. Curtis LeMay, vice chief of staff of the Air Force, captained a jet-tanker nonstop from Massachusetts to Argentina without refueling, a record of over 6,000 miles. After a rest, he flew it back to Washington, also nonstop.

That same day three jet-bombers flew 8,000 miles from California to the Philippines, nonstop but with refueling.

Over the weekend six B52 bombers flew nonstop from Florida to Argentina and—without landing but with refueling—flew back to update New York.

Meanwhile, the Defense Department announced the Navy was being equipped with atomic depth bombs, said it had shot off various kinds of missiles, and told of breaking an altitude record with a rocket.

All this illustrated President Eisenhower's talk to the nation two weeks ago, a talk in which he said he would give the "rough" with the "smooth." There was more of the smooth than the rough.

He said, with examples, this country had developed a family of missiles, with some 38 different types either in operation or under development.

In some instances he's been accused of overstating his case. ## French Premier Has Problems

Commiserations, rather than congratulations, are probably in order for the new premier of France, Felix Gaillard.

Gaillard, only 38 years old, was undoubtedly chosen because of his recognized ability as a financial expert. Gaillard, virtually unknown up to six months ago, had shot to such prominence that when the French were unable to form a cabinet for 37 days he seemed the one man—despite his relative youth—on whom many divergent parties could agree.

Recent stresses and strains in the French economy left no doubt of the need for an expert financial hand at the helm. But whether the French Assembly and the French people are ready to swallow the bitter pill of higher taxes and similar unpleasant remedies for their difficulties will tell the tale on the length Gaillard is able to hold his government together.

Unfortunately, an equally grave crisis for France is the matter of Algeria. And here Gaillard appears to have no solutions except the continuation of the ruinously expensive way by the French army against the Algerian rebels.

But it is difficult to see how the financial problems of France can be solved as long as she is pouring out $4 million a day in the quicksands of the Algerian War.

Gaillard said in his acceptance speech in the French Assembly that the only trouble with France is political. But whether the politicians will stand still while he takes some of the steps necessary is doubtful.

Federal Advocates

Most citizens are favorably disposed toward the theory of more governmental authority and revenue at the state and local levels and less at the federal level. Officials of the AFL-CIO labor organizations do not see it that way. They say this is a callous scheme to undermine essential federal grant programs.

The proposal, labor leaders say, "could strike fire with Congress with disastrous results to cities throughout the country." It is pointed out that federal grants-in-aid now amount to more than $3 billion a year. The AFL-CIO favors more, not less, federal grants.

The question arises just what it is that is worrying the labor chieftains. They may be more concerned over the prospect that, if state and local authority increases, labor will have a more difficult time keeping track of state laws and local ordinances regulating the unions.

They are aware that right-to-work and other legislation opposed by labor is at the state and not the federal level.

As to revenues to maintain government services, it is often asserted that such services could be better and more economically administered by the states.

Where Is the Old Hired Man?

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK — The hired man began to disappear a generation ago from the American scene, and left a gap in family life that has never quite been filled. There is none to take his place.

The hired man at one time was a neighborhood resource, the poor relation by loyalty but not by blood of a dozen or so families he had adopted.

His pay was invariably low. Nobody spoiled him with money. Nobody expected him to brood over the fact his fate was to brush the dust from the welcome mat spread for other feet.

Often he would work for sick people, who having survived local medicine and escaped the local undertaker would victoriously call in the hired man to brighten up the place to make them feel better.

The hired man knew that sick people, getting well, are helped by seeing their belongings in order, the yard clean, the sidewalk swept, brass knocker on the front door brightly polished. It makes them feel they have more of a hold on life.

But the hired man wasn't just a crutch for the sick getting well. He was also a kind of measurement of the wealth of the healthy. He did the jobs they could do themselves but were too busy to do or too proud to do in public.

Actually there wasn't much he couldn't do. But in those days the hired man was generally an outdoor-working man. When he came indoors it was usually to eat in the kitchen.

He didn't work every day because he was a lone man, unmarried and not wanting to be married, always knew, whether he wanted to earn it or not, there was a welcome for him in many kitchens.

Most wives were glad to feed him—and for several reasons. For one thing, he was different from their husbands. He was male and independent as their husbands were, but if he would not obey a woman, he would listen to her, or appear to.

He took his time about his work; nobody could push him there. He would stop and talk to the kids. He would stay in a warm kitchen on a cold day and listen to a wife's complaints as long as she served food or poured coffee. The main thing was he was company.

He wasn't dependable in an emergency, because he didn't live by your emergency. But when he was actually there he was as dependable as your need required. He could stop a leaking faucet, coax a reluctant handle of a bathroom fixture back into action, even weed gardens where he planted nothing himself.

Whatever happened to the old-fashioned hired man?

He specialized. Today one hired man is hired to fix the television set. Another hired man is hired to fix one part of the plumbing, and still another to meet another plumbing problem. A fourth hired man can repair short circuits and is an authority on light bulbs, up to 100 watts.

Who's To Blame for Sputnik?

By George Sokolsky

Everybody has his own culprit. Former President Truman says that Sputnik came first because great American scientists were smeared.

They took refuge in the universities, poor dears! What did they do there, sit on their hands? If what he called smeared ones were truly devoted to the truth, they labored in their vineyards no matter what the circumstances.

Another says that Sputnik came first because we permitted Soviet Russia to steal the best German scientists whereas we should have stolen them when we had a chance. Another says that it is all due to the Rosenbergs and Dr. Klaus Fuchs and other spies. Another says that it was because the Democrats were in office and that they were soft on Communists and still another says that Eisenhower is President and he is soft on Communists.

Some educators say that we turn out too few scientists and engineers and other educators say that too few students have their minds disciplined by Latin, Greek and the great philosophers.

You can take your pick of a hundred explanations, alibis, sure-cures, proposals, plans and elixirs and you will be as correct as you will be wrong. Actually, there is no reason why the Russians should not have come up with Sputnik first. No nation has a monopoly of brains, intelligence, curiosity, or devotion to great causes.

We have confused our devotion to a high standard of individual living with an assumption that clothes maketh the man. A sloppy-looking Einstein, in baggy trousers, black cardigan, yellow shoes and unkempt hair, could be a tremendous intellect. His mind was given to him by God, the Divine Intelligence; his clothes he bought in a store.

We have also permitted ourselves to believe that the possession of money can be equated as evidence of the possession of intelligence. The two are unrelated. Men possess wealth because of financial ability, skill, inheritance, cupidity, dishonesty, corruption, parsimony, luck. Intelligence is a product of knowledge, intuition, imagination, discipline. Some rich men are intelligent; some are fools except that they know a particular trick very much as a dog or a monkey can be taught a trick. Of course, the easiest way to come into possession of a fortune is to marry a rich girl, but that may require charm, not intellect.

The American view that the only incentive for creative work is to accumulate more money can no longer be sustained as a universal law. Soviet Russia has established by evidence that men will do the same type of work that Americans do for monetary rewards, for no better reason than that that is their work.

In a word, the managerial class in Soviet Russia, while

amply rewarded, cannot accumulate private wealth as our managerial personnel do here, but they show the same initiative, the same inventive power, the same capacity for work.

It is not only necessary to make this point, but to understand its significance. Sputnik represents a kind of triumph but it is not as much a triumph of science as it is a triumph of management in industry. It is this that should be startling to us; not that Sputnik orbited and encircled the earth but that Sputnik could be made without the incentives of private industry.

It is that that we have up to now believed to be impossible. But we cannot deny Sputnik. By every pragmatic test, Sputnik has established itself and it has also established the fact that what we call slave labor can produce as well as free labor, that what we call Socialism can produce as well as what we call capitalism can. And that being so, we need to search carefully to discover the essential difference between our way of life and the Soviet way of life to restate and confirm our preference.

Essentially that difference is personal liberty. If that is correct then we have to ask whether personal liberty is a virtue and if it is, is it a virtue worth preserving. And if it is a virtue worth preserving, then it must be preserved absolutely and not relatively.

In a word, because of Sputnik, we Americans have much thinking to do and we need to think fast and furiously. Sputnik is a managerial revolution which cannot be ignored even by the most wilful.

"You're fired!"

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

BIGGEST GROSS for an animal act at a midwestern carnival was rung up by a novelty: a tiger and a sheep performing tricks in the same cage.

"Amazing," commented a visitor. "Do those oddly assorted creatures always get along so amiably together?"

There was a vaudevilian in the good old days who never lacked for work. Why? He was a clay modeler, and an absolutely fool-proof "audience chaser." Crowds poured out of the theater the minute he began his act—which made room for new ticket buyers waiting to get in!

There's a reason, maintains Anne Baxter, why so many Hollywood big-shots are overweight. The only exercise they get is jumping to conclusions.

Cancer Ill Can Be Eased

By Herman N. Bundesen, M.D.

Saving lives is a doctor's main job. Yet he still must use all his medical skill and all the human kindness at his command when treating persons he knows he cannot save.

With all the modern drugs we have available today, a doctor never is helpless. There's always something he can do, even if it is merely to relieve pain or instill a note of hope in a patient or his family, for the time being at least.

Advanced cases of cancer, for example, usually will be fatal unless the entire malignant tumor can be removed. If this is impossible, a doctor just doesn't abandon the patient as hopeless. As a matter of fact, quite frequently it is cases such as these which tax a physician's ingenuity.

In some cases, such as in cervical cancer, radiation may even provide a permanent cure.

There are any number of drugs which might be tried. Among the chemical agents doctors often use are nitrogen mustard, myleran, Fowler's solution, triethylenemelamine and triethylenethiophosphoramide.

Also, there are the two purine antagonists, urethane and mercaptopurine, and the folic acid antagonists, aminopterin and amethopterin.

ACTH and cortisone also may be valuable aids in treating a cancer patient. Not only do they often have a direct effect upon the tumor cells, but they also alleviate undesirable side effects of some of the other drugs.

Now these chemical compounds won't help all cases of cancer. In fact, they are most often employed in treating lymphomas and leukemias. Myleran, for instance, gives hope of lengthening life in cases of myelogenous leukemia.

There's one thing I want all of you to remember: Today, advanced cases of cancer may seem to be hopeless. But tomorrow we may have the cure. We'll get it some day. Who can tell when it will be?

Question and Answer

K. V.: My 12-year-old daughter has a great deal of hair on her upper lip and arms. How do you recommend it be removed?

Answer: Usually, it is best to withhold treatment with electrolysis until puberty is reached. The child probably can be helped by bleaching the hairs or by rubbing them with fine pumice stone or with sandpaper made for this purpose.

The World Today

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON — We're getting self-conscious.

We've been busting our buttons—talking and performing—to show how strong we are ever since Russia fired the Sputniks.

But we didn't have the right muscles at the right time. The Russians won a propaganda victory.

Allies and neutrals were left with visions of Russian missiles and hydrogen warheads dropping in their flowerpots.

Something had to be done to reassure friends, warn foes. A whole batch of statements and performances followed, none as spectacular as Sputnik.

Last Wednesday Gen. Curtis LeMay, vice chief of staff of the Air Force, captained a jet-tanker nonstop from Massachusetts to Argentina without refueling, a record of over 6,000 miles. After a rest, he flew it back to Washington, also nonstop.

That same day three jet-bombers flew 8,000 miles from California to the Philippines, nonstop but with refueling.

Over the weekend six B52 bombers flew nonstop from Florida to Argentina—and without landing but with refueling—flew back to update New York.

Meanwhile, the Defense Department announced the Navy was being equipped with atomic depth bombs, said it had shot off various kinds of missiles, and told of breaking an altitude record with a rocket.

All this illustrated President Eisenhower's talk to the nation two weeks ago, a talk in which he said he would give the "rough" with the "smooth." There was more of the smooth than the rough.

In some instances he's been accused of overstating his case. While Russia is claiming development of a missile that can span an ocean and a continent, this country has surrounded Russia with air bases and now is suggesting bases from which intermediate range missiles can be fired, if they have the miles. The United States has no intercontinental ballistic missile yet. But Eisenhower said because of these bases those shorter range missiles are in some cases a good as the other kind.

Sen. Bricker Expected to Announce Soon

Ohio's Aides All Set To Obtain Petitions For His Third Term

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Any suspense that Republican U.S. Sen. John W. Bricker might not seek reelection next year apparently will be dispelled within a few weeks.

"I've been thinking about petitions," he admitted. "Let's see, the filing time for the May primary is next February. Something should be done pretty soon."

Aides said they are ready to give the word, indicating they expect him to seek a third six-year term.

The observations apparently dashed slim hopes of some friends who have urged Bricker to retire from politics after nearly 40 years to head his Columbus law firm, formed after his defeat for vice president in 1944.

Bricker's candidacy will enable Ohio Republicans to field a seasoned team for the 1958 elections. The party now holds every major state office at stake next year as well as 17 of the 23 seats in the U.S. House of Representatives.

Failure of Bricker to run again would signal a wide open fight among several Republicans eager for a chance at the senatorial nomination and give Democrats some hope of beating the winner.

Bricker's vote - getting record causes dismay in the ranks of Democratic strategists seeking a candidate to oppose him.

Word from Toledo, home of Michael V. DiSalle, virtually excludes any prospect that the former federal price controller again might challenge Bricker. Their clash in 1952 produced a varied display of political fireworks but left DiSalle trailing by a margin of 315,000 votes in the election.

DiSalle has been regarded as a more likely prospect to oppose reelection of GOP Gov. C. William O'Neill, who beat him in the 1956 gubernatorial race, if the Toledoan runs for office next year.

Bricker in 1946 defeated James W. Hoffman of Columbus by more than 328,000 votes for senator. In 1944, when Bricker lost the vice presidency, Ohio went Republican by 11,500 votes. That was the first time the Democrats had been stopped in Ohio in a presidential race after the late President Roosevelt first was elected in 1932.

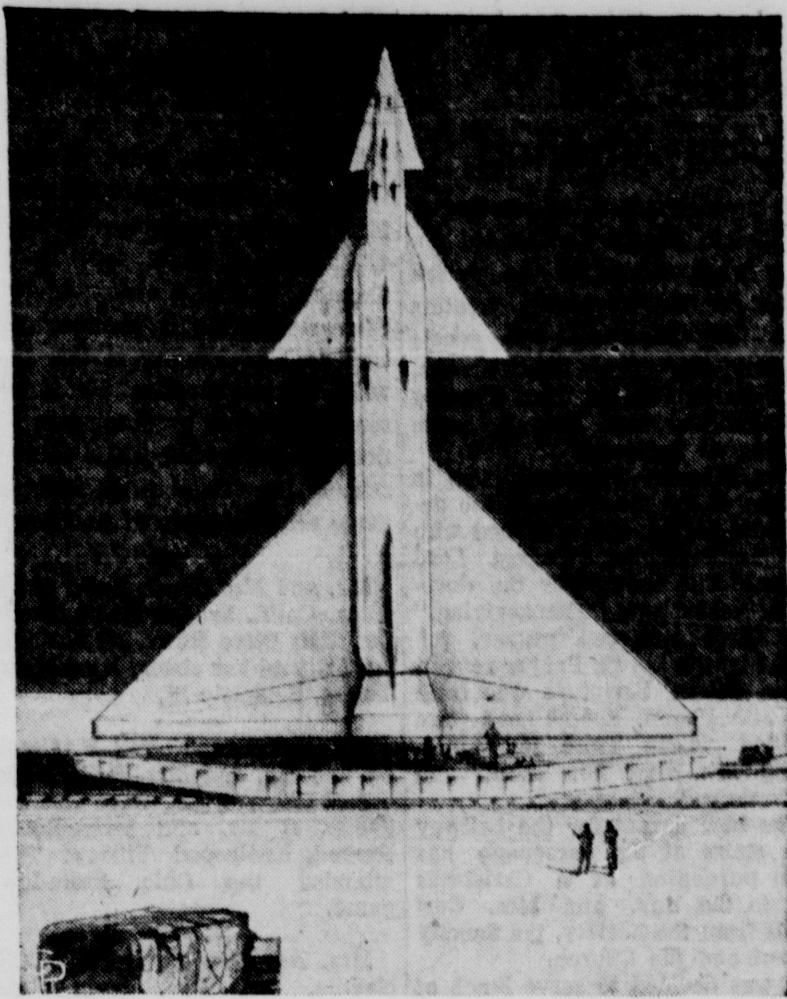

Bricker won his first race for governor in 1938 by 118,000 votes. He was re-elected two years later by 364,000 and again in 1942 by 377,000.

He began his public career as solicitor of Grandview Heights, Columbus suburb, in 1920, the year he was admitted to the bar. Also behind him is a term on the Ohio Public Utilities Commission and two as attorney general before he became governor.

Against occasional talk of political retirement are several compelling reasons for returning to Washington.

At 64, Bricker is rising rapidly in senatorial seniority and influence. He ranks 27th among the 98 senators. He is the ranking Republican on the Senate Interstate and Foreign Commerce Committee, second on the Banking and Currency Committee and senior member of the Senate-House Joint Atomic Energy Committee. He also is chairman of the GOP Committee on Committees which assigns members to senate committees.

Additionally, a suspicion that so-called "modern" Republicans are veering from historical principles of his party might make him want to remain as insurance against further shrinkage of the

Ike 'Solves' World Troubles At Cracker Barrel Parley

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP)—There's a cracker barrel around here now any time vacationing President Eisenhower wants to engage in free-for-all cracker barrel debate in the old country store manner.

Indications are pretty strong the President plans to do a good bit of philosophizing around that barrel with fellow members at the Augusta National Golf Club.

The barrel, well filled with crackers, was presented to the club Sunday by one of the members, George M. Humphrey, former secretary of the Treasury in the Eisenhower Cabinet.

The President said jokingly that he and Humphrey, chatting around the barrel, had solved all the world's problems.

"There'll be no more troubles from here on about the world," Eisenhower remarked with a grin.

The explanation of how Humphrey happened to present the two-foot-high, highly varnished barrel to the club is set forth in a letter the President wrote last July to Cliff Roberts of New York, senate conservative bloc which recently lost Sen. William F. Knowland to the California race for governor.

"I am just a Republican and believe in consistency of principles," Bricker said. "I am opposed to foreign expenditures; I don't believe in unnecessary regulation, just in human freedom for the people of this country. There are many things the states should do themselves and many powers of the federal government should be turned back to them."

Commenting on President Eisenhower's televised address last Wednesday night, Bricker agreed that the United States must remain strong to prevent war. "I have confidence he is doing all that is possible," Bricker said.

Asserting the Russians are preparing for an all-out holocaust, Bricker said "they are putting all into the military without regard to present and future generations. Their people are living poorly and some are starving. But for us, this and future generations are important."

Concerning the president's remarks about education, Bricker said such a program is very important. "It is a problem for the public generally. I was glad to hear him emphasize it."

Julie London Prefers Acting

By ARMAND ARCHERD
Central Press Association
Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD — Julie London learned about music through her first husband, Jack Webb; learned enough about singing, through her about-to-be next husband, Bobby Troup, to launch herself on a nifty career; and is now wealthy enough, thanks to both men, to be doing what she likes — straight acting. This is exactly what she was doing before she met husband number one, Webb!

Julie has tossed away a very lucrative career as a saloon (excuse it—night club) singer and she's glad. She hated the life she led as a late stayer-upper, despite the fact it got her on the road as a chanteuse, and eventually to a record contract. Julie's "Cry Me a River" rendition on wax reminded Hollywood of her existence and Jose Ferrer hired her for "The Great Man," in which she played a dramatic role as an alcoholic.

Her fame on the nifty and waxy circuit continued and she was hired to star with Robert Taylor in "Saddle the Wind." In this western, only her dramatic qualifications were called upon. However, by coincidence, the studio hired songwriters Jay Livingston and Ray Evans to pen a title tune. By another coincidence, London sings in the film—and, of course, she recorded it, too!

Miss London then was asked to co-star in "No Power on Earth." And in this film, she plays the wife of an alcoholic. "This part is strictly acting," Julie says. "I don't sing a note." (Up to this writing, a title tune had not been written for her to warble.)

Until the time Julie married Jack Webb, she was a straight dramatic actress, with one very strong portrayal, in "The Red House," to her credit. Then came a four-year hiatus during the marriage, then the bustup.

"When I went back to show business," she says, "Bobby Troup convinced me to concentrate on singing and get up a night club act. I didn't care much for night club work the first time I tried it. And I liked it even less every performance after that."

"I COULD NEVER reconcile myself to a career on the night shift, no matter how glamorous it might seem to be. Some people complain that making movies is a chore because of the early start and long day's work. However, that's the life for me."

Although Julie's first love is straight dramatic acting, she admits when she does a dramatic scene, she approaches it just the way she would a number she was recording.

"A part is a song to me," Julie said, "only most parts are a good deal longer than most songs. And, conversely, singing is nothing more than acting with melodic dialogue. When a vocalist sells a song, he's not just an animated juke box. A singer feels, acts and reacts as much as any T-shirted Marlon Brando."

Julie didn't turn to her musical career as a means of self-support—when she and Jack Webb split up, she received a settlement in excess of $500,000—but the reason she turned to music and Bobby Troup may simply be for psychological values. They happened to become monetary values!

Now, of course, Julie admits she'd like to do a musical film. "To me," she says, "a musical is every part of show business rolled up into one. It's music, of course, dancing, singing and acting all at the same time. And I'd love it!"

So far, no producer has come to her with such a script, and she feels the old Hollywood bug-a-boo, type casting, may be the stumbling block.

100th Fatality Noted

CLEVELAND (AP)—Tom Dabool, 67, a pedestrian who, police said, was crossing the Broadway-Carnegie intersection crosswalk with the light when a turning automobile struck him, is Cleveland's 100th traffic fatality of 1957.

Julie London laments. "For some reason, nobody has come up with the idea of putting the two together."

If no one comes to her offering her an opportunity, she'll make her own. "If I can't find someone to produce a musical with me in it," she says, "I'll produce it myself." And, she's the gal who can put up the money by herself—remember the $500,000 plus?

Ironically, boy friend Troup has been hired, again by Jose Ferrer, to play a straight dramatic role in "Bay the Moon." However, to this date, there have been no reports of Jack Webb making a musical version of "Dragnet."

Aides said they are ready to give the word, indicating they expect him to seek a third six-year term.

The observations apparently dashed slim hopes of some friends who have urged Bricker to retire from politics after nearly 40 years to head his Columbus law firm, formed after his defeat for vice president in 1944.

Bricker's candidacy will enable Ohio Republicans to field a seasoned team for the 1958 elections. The party now holds every major state office at stake next year as well as 17 of the 23 seats in the U.S. House of Representatives.

Failure of Bricker to run again would signal a wide open fight among several Republicans eager for a chance at the senatorial nomination and give Democrats some hope of beating the winner.

Bricker's vote - getting record causes dismay in the ranks of Democratic strategists seeking a candidate to oppose him.

Word from Toledo, home of Michael V. DiSalle, virtually excludes any prospect that the former federal price controller again might challenge Bricker.

DiSalle has been regarded as a more likely prospect to oppose reelection of GOP Gov. C. William O'Neill, who beat him in the 1956 gubernatorial race, if the Toledoan runs for office next year.

Bricker in 1946 defeated James W. Hoffman of Columbus by more than 328,000 votes for senator. In 1944, when Bricker lost the vice presidency, Ohio went Republican by 11,500 votes. That was the first time the Democrats had been stopped in Ohio in a presidential race after the late President Roosevelt first was elected in 1932.

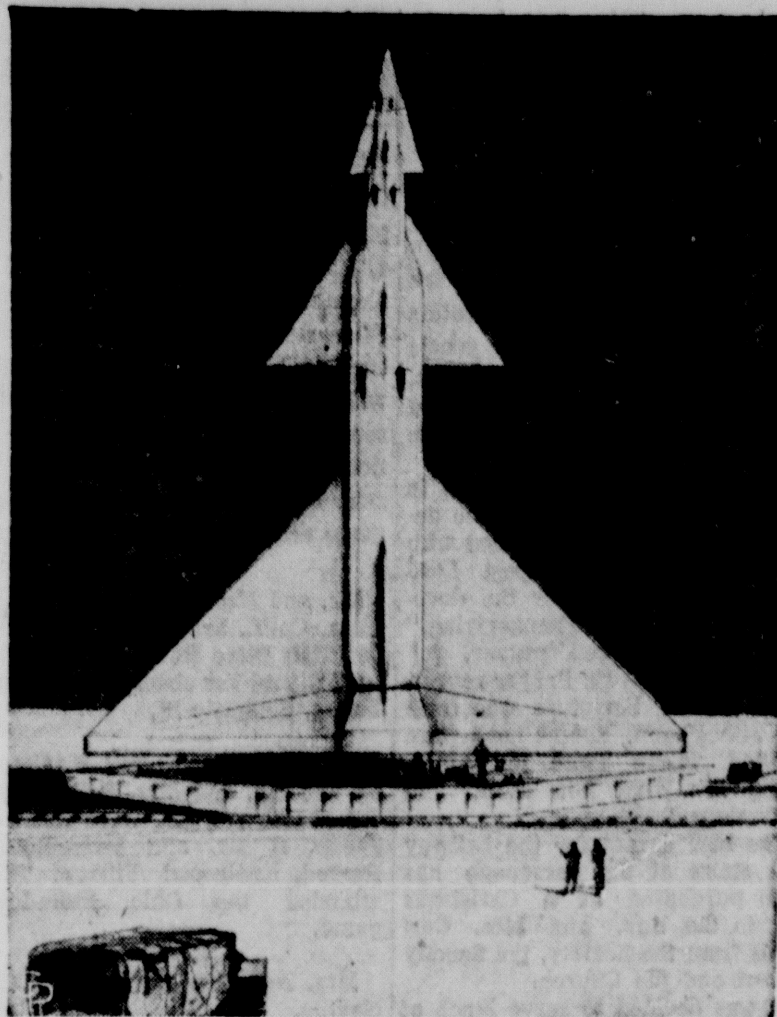

Bricker won his first race for governor in 1938 by 118,000 votes. He was re-elected two years later by 364,000 and again in 1942 by 377,000.

He began his public career as solicitor of Grandview Heights, Columbus suburb, in 1920, the year he was admitted to the bar. Also behind him is a term on the Ohio Public Utilities Commission and two as attorney general before he became governor.

Against occasional talk of political retirement are several compelling reasons for returning to Washington.

At 64, Bricker is rising rapidly in senatorial seniority and influence. He ranks 27th among the 98 senators. He is the ranking Republican on the Senate Interstate and Foreign Commerce Committee, second on the Banking and Currency Committee and senior member of the Senate-House Joint Atomic Energy Committee. He also is chairman of the GOP Committee on Committees which assigns members to senate committees.

Additionally, a suspicion that so-called "modern" Republicans are veering from historical principles of his party might make him want to remain as insurance against further shrinkage of the

Ike 'Solves' World Troubles At Cracker Barrel Parley

AUGUSTA, Ga. (P)—There's a cracker barrel around here now any time vacationing President Eisenhower wants to engage in free-for-all cracker barrel debate in the old country store manner.

Indications are pretty strong the President plans to do a good bit of philosophizing around that barrel with fellow members at the Augusta National Golf Club.

The barrel, well filled with crackers, was presented to the club Sunday by one of the members, George M. Humphrey, former secretary of the Treasury in the Eisenhower Cabinet.

The President said jokingly that he and Humphrey, chatting around the barrel, had solved all the world's problems.

"There'll be no more troubles from here on about the world," Eisenhower remarked with a grin. The explanation of how Humphrey happened to present the two-foot-high, highly varnished barrel to the club is set forth in a letter the President wrote last July to Cliff Roberts of New York, senate conservative bloc which recently lost Sen. William F. Knowland to the California race for governor.

"I am just a Republican and believe in consistency of principles," Bricker said. "I am opposed to foreign expenditures; I don't believe in unnecessary regulation, just in human freedom for the people of this country. There are many things the states should do themselves and many powers of the federal government should be turned back to them."

Commenting on President Eisenhower's televised address last Wednesday night, Bricker agreed that the United States must remain strong to prevent war. "I have confidence he is doing all that is possible," Bricker said.

Asserting the Russians are preparing for an all-out holocaust, Bricker said "they are putting all into the military without regard to present and future generations. Their people are living poorly and some are starving. But for us, this and future generations are important."

Concerning the president's remarks about education, Bricker said such a program is very important. "It is a problem for the public generally. I was glad to hear him emphasize it."

Julie London Prefers Acting

By ARMAND ARCHERD
Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD — Julie London learned about music through her first husband, Jack Webb; learned enough about singing, through her about-to-be next husband, Bobby Troup, to launch herself on a nifty career; and is now wealthy enough, thanks to both men, to be doing what she likes — straight acting. This is exactly what she was going before she met husband number one, Webb.

Julie has tossed away a very lucrative career as a saloon (excuse it—night club) singer and she's glad. She hated the life she led as a late stayer-upper, despite the fact it got her on the road as a chanteuse, and eventually to a record contract. Julie's "Cry Me a River" rendition on wax reminded Hollywood of her existence and Jose Ferrer hired her for "The Great Man," in which she played a dramatic role as an alcoholic.

Her fame on the nifty and waxy circuit continued and she was hired to star with Robert Taylor in "Saddle the Wind." In this western, only her dramatic qualifications were called upon. However, by coincidence, the studio hired songwriters Jay Livingston and Ray Evans to pen a title tune. By another coincidence, London sings it in the film—and, of course, she recorded it, too!

Miss London then was asked to co-star in "No Power on Earth." And in this film, she plays the wife of an alcoholic. "This part is strictly acting," Julie says. "I don't sing a note." (Up to this writing, a title tune had not been written for her to warble.)

Until the time Julie married Jack Webb, she was a straight dramatic actress, with one very strong portrayal, in "The Red House," to her credit. Then came a four-year hiatus during the marriage, then the bustup.

"When I went back to show business," she says, "Bobby Troup convinced me to concentrate on singing and get up a night club act. I didn't care much for night club work the first time I tried it. And I liked it even less every performance after that."

"I COULD NEVER reconcile myself to a career on the night shift, no matter how glamorous it might seem to be. Some people complain that making movies is a chore because of the early start and long day's work. However, that's the life for me."

Although Julie's first love is straight dramatic acting, she admits when she does a dramatic scene, she approaches it just the way she would a number she was recording.

"A part is a song to me," Julie said, "only most parts are a good deal longer than most songs. And, conversely, singing is nothing more than acting with melodic dialogue. When a vocalist sells a song, he's not just an animated juke box. A singer feels, acts and reacts as much as any T-shirted Marlon Brando."

Julie didn't turn to her musical career as a means of self-support — when she and Jack Webb split up, she received a settlement in excess of $500,000—but the reason she turned to music and Bobby Troup may simply be for psychological values. They happened to become monetary values!

Now, of course, Julie admits she'd like to do a musical film. "To me," she says, "a musical is every part of show business rolled up into one. It's music, of course, dancing, singing and acting all at the same time. And I'd love it!"

So far, no producer has come to her with such a script, and she feels the old Hollywood bug-a-boo, type casting, may be the stumbling block.

Burglars Take Unusual Variety

MILLBRAE, Calif. (P)—While Mr. and Mrs. William Schmidt were visiting friends, the following items were taken from their home:

A parakeet in its cage; a silver service for 12; a piggy bank with 200 dimes inside; all the slip covers from the living room furniture; an electric coffee maker and toaster; a Russian finch collar and muff; a jewelry box; two pillows; a clock; a cake Mrs. Schmidt had just baked; a silver fox stole; a silver hair brush set; nine sets of earrings; and a pair of house slippers.

Frogman Suits Find Easy Sale in Texas

UVALDE, Tex. (P)—Pete Knowles, who operates a government surplus store here, has found a ready market for Navy frogman suits.

Heavy recent rains has made rice farmland in the area so muddy field workers are using the men suits in planting.

100th Fatality Noted

CLEVELAND (P)—Tom Dabool, 67, a pedestrian who, police said, was crossing the Broadway-Carnegie intersection crosswalk with the light when a turning automobile struck him, is Cleveland's 100th traffic fatality of 1957.

ress," Julie London laments. "For some reason, nobody has come up with the idea of putting the two together."

If no one comes to her offering her an opportunity, she'll make her own. "If I can't find someone to produce a musical with me in it," she says, "I'll produce it myself." And, she's the gal who can put up the money by herself—remember the $500,000 plus?

Ironically, boy friend Troup has been hired, again by Jose Ferrer, to play a straight dramatic role in "Bay the Moon." However, to this date, there have been no reports of Jack Webb making a musical version of "Dragnet."

Science Shrinks Piles New Way Without Surgery

Finds Healing Substance That Does Both—Relieves Pain—Shrinks Hemorrhoids

New York, N. Y. (Special)—For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids and to relieve pain—without surgery. In case after case, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction (shrinkage) took place. Most amazing of all—results were so thorough that sufferers made astonishing statements like "Piles have ceased to be a problem!"

The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne)—discovery of a world-famous research institute. This substance is now available in suppository or ointment form under the name Preparation H. At your druggist. Money back guarantee. *Reg. U. S. Pat. Off.

True Beauty In Women Said Found in 30-50-Year-Olds

Editor's Note: The author of the following article, Kate Hevner Mueller, vice chairman of the education committee of the American Association of University Women.

By KATE MUELLER
(For Jane Eads)

Whoever said youth is beauty? Who may be the more lovely to look at, the freshman or her mother?

Youthful beauty is found only in advertisements portraying 20 to 30 year-olds who have been rigidly screened, discreetly made up and coached to look haughty or hearty on demand. Personal human beauty of the durable everyday brand, the glamour that is more than photogenic, is best found among the 30 to 50-year-olds, men and women who know the world and like it, know their own personalities and respect them.

How did they learn this? The easiest and certainly the pleasantest way is to stay in school and college as long as possible and study not only for a vocation or profession but for the whole way of life that goes with that profession. This means preparing for leisure, those long 2-day-weekends which may soon become the 3-or 3½-day weekends; for our higher standards of living with travel, music, theater, sports; for the harnessing of science to personal benefit in health and nutrition; for leadership in government, in the community, in the world.

We used to call this kind of education "liberal" and reserve it for the leisure classes, and it took on a kind of snobbish, ivory tower quality that marked it for the dilettante. But the 1950s have called it our most useful education and earmarked it for all. It is the systematic study of economics, languages, the arts, psychology, science and of the history, theory and understanding of these things. For in our society it is only the educated man or woman who grows more interesting, more attractive, more vibrant year by year, who carries the firm step and bright eye of his school years right on through to as many adventurous decades as modern life may give him.

Miss Dona Jean Kerns Is Bride of Mr. Joseph Blue

Lutheran Church Scene of Wedding

All of the bride's attendants including the little flower girl wore gowns of cobalt blue velvet and carried baskets of yellow and bronze chrysanthemums at the marriage of Miss Dona Jean Kerns whose marriage to Mr. Joseph L. Blue was solemnized at 2:30 p. m. Sunday at the Trinity Lutheran Church.

The bride herself was attired in a gown of pure silk white peau de soie with princess paneled skirt featuring large motifs of Alencon lace trimmed with seed pearls and iridescent applique work on each side of the panel. A wide band of shirring formed the elongated bodice effect draping from the sides of the gown into a large butterfly bustle back.

The full skirt draped softly over an old fashioned hoop into a circular chapel train. The sabrina neckline was outlined with large motifs of hand-run Alencon lace encrusted with seed pearls and iridescent.

The full finger tip veil of sheer imported illusion draped softly from a matching silk and jeweled lace half-hat. She carried a white Bible, which had been a graduation gift, ornamented with an orchid.

The bride, who is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. V. D. Kerns of N. Scioto St., approached the altar on the arm of her father.

The church was decorated with white gladioli, yellow and white daisy chrysanthemums and palms highlighted with candelabra holding white tapers. The candle lighters were Miss Donna Marie Marquardt and Master Terry Roger Anderson.

Mrs. Carl Herrmann as the organist accompanied Mr. Willard Arledge, soloist, who sang, "I Love You Truly," "Because," "You'll Never Walk Alone," "O Promise Me" and "The Lord's Prayer."

The Rev. Carl Zehner officiated at the double ring open church wedding.

Mrs. Alva Don Nafzer, a cousin of the bride's, was matron of honor. Miss Dona Maxine Parr, Newark, and Miss Carol Sue Mirgon.

Sugar Grove, were bridesmaids. Miss Donna Marie Marquardt who had lighted the candles also served as junior bridesmaid. She was a cousin from Owosso, Mich.

Barbara Lanman was the flower girl and Master Wayne Robinson was ring bearer.

Mr. Jack E. Brooks, Columbus, a cousin of the bridegroom, was best man. Mr. Roland Robinson, Hamilton, cousin of the bridegroom, Mr. Robert Woodward, Williamsport, uncle of the bridegroom, Mr. David Hoffman and Mr. Carl Martin, Circleville, were shers.

Mrs. Kerns wore a dress of Dior blue of crepe and lace. Her accessories were black and dust-rose. Her corsage was an orchid.

The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Blue of Wilson Ave. For her son's wedding Mrs. Blue was gowned in taffeta with a jeweled trim lace portrait neckline. Her accessories were dark brown, her corsage an orchid.

The wedding reception was held in the Trinity Lutheran Parish House. Three tables formed an arc at one end of the room. On one table were the wedding gifts; the other two were for the bridal party.

Centering the arc was the main table which was covered with a white linen cloth. On one end was the five tiered wedding cake topped with a miniature bride and bridegroom and encircled with fern and yellow chrysanthemums and at the other end was the punch bowl with floating yellow chrysanthemums. A smaller table to one side held another punch bowl for refills. This was also encircled with fern and white and yellow chrysanthemums.

Hostesses at the reception were Miss Wilma Harmon, Bremen; Mrs. Joann Randolph, Miss Regina Hillberry, and Mrs. Relma Flannagan, Mrs. Louis Primm, all of Lancaster, Miss Eva Starr, Logan, Mrs. Jack Brooks, Columbus, and Miss Marilyn Richards.

For her trip to Texas the bride was attired in a black wool suit with a white fur hat and black accessories. She wore the orchid from her bouquet. She is a graduate of Circleville High School and Fairfield Hospital School of Nursing. She served as head nurse in Pediatrics in the Lancaster Fairfield Hospital from Sept. 9 to Nov. 11. She plans to assist her father, Dr. Kerns, in his office after the first of the year.

The bridegroom is a graduate of Circleville High School and is employed at the local General Electric Plant and farms.

Out-of-town wedding guests came from, Columbus, Kingston, Chillicothe, Louisville, Ky., Owosso, Mich., Hamilton, Cincinnati, Stoutsville, Lancaster, Canal Winchester, Ashville, Thornville, Mt. Sterling, Findlay, Marysville, Warren, Sugar Grove, Newark, Adelphi, Groveport and Grove City.

Household Hints

To conceal scratches on red-finished mahogany, you can use new iodine. For mahogany that has turned brown or is cherry colored, use iodine that has turned dark brown. For maple, dilute iodine with denatured alcohol, using a half-and-half mixture.

Add a few drops of kerosene and a little bluing to warm soapy water when you are washing windows. Gives extra sparkle!

Scioto Chapel Ladies Aid Holds Meeting

A tea highlighted the meeting of the Scioto Chapel Ladies Aid Society when it met in the parish house for the November meeting with fifty members and guests present with Mrs. Elza Brooks, Mrs. Ralph Phillips, Mrs. Howard Younklin and Mrs. Otto Bethards serving as hostesses.

Mrs. Brooks, President, was in charge of the meeting and the devotional period, which opened with the group singing "Fairest Lord Jesus."

The theme for the devotional period was "Thanksgiving." Mrs. Brooks offered prayer, followed by the Lord's Prayer repeated in unison. Scripture was from the 34th Psalm. Poems read were entitled "Take Time for America," "It's What You Think" and "Blessings."

The new carpet for the hallway and stairs at the parsonage has been purchased as a Christmas gift to the Rev. and Mrs. Carl Groff from the Society, the Sunday School and the Church.

It was decided to serve lunch at the Vernon McGath farm sale to be held in December.

The society has Christmas cards for sale with Mrs. William Nichols in charge of the project.

Birthday dues were paid by Mrs. Phillips, Mrs. Milton Renick, Mrs. L. J. Welch and Mrs. Addie Davis.

It was decided to hold a Christmas Party in the parish house on Thursday, Dec. 12. A covered-dish dinner, with turkey furnished by the society, will be held at the noon-hour followed by an exchange of gifts. Members are to take a $1 gift for the exchange.

The calendar for the new year will remain the same as this past year unless any member desires to make a change. If so, she should notify the president.

The January meeting will be held in the parsonage. Members will provide cookies and sandwiches. Also, each member is asked to donate a tea towel to be taken to the meeting, the afternoon to be spent in hemming towels for the parish house.

The program for the afternoon consisted in group singing of "In the Garden" followed by two readings by Mrs. John Moss of Ashville-entitled "Hospitality Blues" and "Life Gets Tenuous."

Mrs. Carl Groff was accompanist when Mrs. Brooks and Mrs. Cecil Ward sang "Rock of Ages". Mrs. Howard Koch presented a reading entitled, "The Ghost with the Curly Hair". A duet, by Mrs. Brooks and Mrs. Bethards followed. Their song was "Will There Be Any Stars in My Crown".

Remarks were given by visitors from the Ashville EUB Church, the Derby, Commercial Point, Jackson Twp. and Robtown Communities.

The hymn "Blest Be the Tie That Binds" concluded the program.

Miss Dona Jean Kerns Is Bride of Mr. Joseph Blue

Lutheran Church Scene of Wedding

All of the bride's attendants including the little flower girl wore gowns of cobalt blue velvet and carried baskets of yellow and bronze chrysanthemums at the marriage of Miss Dona Jean Kerns whose marriage to Mr. Joseph L. Blue was solemnized at 2:30 p. m. Sunday at the Trinity Lutheran Church.

The bride herself was attired in a gown of pure silk white peau de soie with princess paneled skirt featuring large motifs of Alencon lace trimmed with seed pearls and iridescent applied work on each side of the panel. A wide band of shirring formed the elongated bodice effect draping from the sides of the gown into a large butterfly bustle back.

The full skirt draped softly over an old fashioned hoop into a circular chapel train. The sabrina neckline was outlined with large motifs of hand-run Alencon lace encrusted with seed pearls and iridescent.

The full finger tip veil of sheer imported illusion draped softly from a matching silk and jeweled lace half-hat. She carried a white Bible, which had been a graduation gift, ornamented with an orchid.

The bride, who is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. V. D. Kerns of N. Scioto St., approached the altar on the arm of her father.

The church was decorated with white gladioli, yellow and white daisy chrysanthemums and palms highlighted with candelabra holding white tapers. The candle lighters were Miss Donna Marie Marquardt and Master Terry Roger Anderson.

Mrs. Karl Herrmann as the organist accompanied Mr. Willard Arledge, soloist, who sang, "I Love You Truly," "Because," "You'll Never Walk Alone," "O Promise Me" and "The Lord's Prayer."

The Rev. Carl Zehner officiated at the double ring open church wedding.

Mrs. Alva Don Nafzer, a cousin of the bride's, was matron of honor. Miss Donna Maxine Parr, Newark, and Miss Carol Sue Mirgon, Sugar Grove, were bridesmaids. Miss Donna Marie Marquardt who had lighted the candles also served as junior bridesmaid. She was a cousin from Owasao, Mich.

Barbara Lanman was the flower girl and Master Wayne Robinson was ring bearer.

Mr. Jack E. Brooks, Columbus, a cousin of the bridegroom, was best man. Mr. Roland Robinson, Hamilton, cousin of the bridegroom, Mr. Robert Woodward, Williamsport, uncle of the bridegroom, Mr. David Hoffman and Mr. Carl Martin, Circleville, were shers.

Mrs. Kerns wore a dress of Dior-blue of crepe and lace. Her accessories were black and dust-rose. Her corsage was an orchid.

The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Blue of Wilson Ave. For her son's wedding Mrs. Blue was gownned in taffeta with a jeweled trim lace portrait neckline. Her accessories were dark brown, her corsage an orchid.

The wedding reception was held in the Trinity Lutheran Parish House. Three tables formed an arc at one end of the room. On one table were the wedding gifts; the other two were for the bridal party.

Centering the arc was the main table which was covered with a white linen cloth. On one end was the five tiered wedding cake topped with a miniature bride and bridegroom and encircled with fern and yellow chrysanthemums and at the other end was the punch bowl with floating yellow chrysanthemums. A smaller table to one side held another punch bowl for refills. This was also encircled with fern and white and yellow chrysanthemums.

Hostesses at the reception were Miss Wilma Harmon, Bremen; Mrs. Joann Randolph, Miss Regina Hillberry, and Mrs. Relma Flanagan, Mrs. Louis Primm, all of Lancaster, Miss Eva Starr, Logan, Mrs. Jack Brooks, Columbus, and Miss Marilyn Richards.

For her trip to Texas the bride was attired in a black wool suit with a white fur hat and black accessories. She wore the orchid from her bouquet. She is a graduate of Circleville High School and Fairfield Hospital School of Nursing. She served as head nurse in Pediatrics in the Lancaster Fairfield Hospital from Sept. 9 to Nov. 11. She plans to assist her father, Dr. Kerns, in his office after the first of the year.

The bridegroom is a graduate of Circleville High School and is employed at the local General Electric Plant and farms.

DAR Speaker's Bureau Adds Miss Hamilton

Miss Marie Hamilton, Regent of the Pickaway Plains Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, was guest speaker at the William Horney chapter, Jeffersonville, Ohio, on Wednesday afternoon, November 13. The meeting was held in the home of Mrs. Harry Elliott, Bloomingsburg with Mrs. Harry Elliott as hostess.

Miss Hamilton's topic was a "Review on the F. B. I. Story," by Don Whitehead. Miss Hamilton has been asked to serve on the Speakers Bureau, of the State National Defense Committee, of the Ohio Society, of the Daughters of the American Revolution.

Mrs. Krimmel Entertains Union Guild

When Mrs. Lawrence Krimmel, E. Franklin St., entertained the Union Guild recently ten guests and 15 members were present. Guests included: Mrs. William Metzger, Todd and Vici, Williamsport; Mrs. Jerry Easter, Lynn, Jerry and Sherry of near Stoutsville and Mrs. Elzie Brooks, and Miss Janelle Thompson, Jackson Twp., and Mrs. Earl Kissell, Lockbourne.

After the group singing of America and devotions by Mrs. Sherman Campbell, election of officers was held. The new officers are: Mrs. Thomas Hayes, president; Mrs. Roy Newton, vice-president; Mrs. Marvin Routt, secretary; and Mrs. Oland Schooley, treasurer.

Mystery sister names and months for entertaining were drawn. The session closed with the guild benediction.

For the program Mrs. Newton gave two readings, "Countryside Christianity" and "Assets of Life."

A Christmas bazaar was held with a wide assortment of hand-made articles on sale.

Receiving gifts from mystery sisters were: Mrs. Newton, Mrs. Hayes, Mrs. Campbell and Miss Dora Hunt.

Miss Addie Hill assisted the hostess during the refreshment hour.

Memorial Program Held for the Late Dr. Lucille Snow

A recent Chicago daily carried the announcement of a memorial service held to honor the late Dr. Lucille H. Snow. The service was presented by the women's auxiliary to Goodwill Industries at the Goodwill plant at 1500 Monroe St., Chicago.

Dr. Snow was the daughter of Mrs. George Hammill, 656 N. Court St. A distinguished gynecologist Dr. Snow had an interesting medical career and was a practicing surgeon on the staff of two large Chicago hospitals at the time of her death.

She had been a member of the International College of Surgeons. Dr. Snow had been a "devoted worker" for Goodwill and a board member.

At the service two Presbyterian ministers, Dr. Robert L. Sawyer and Dr. Alexander Allison both friends of the late Dr. Snow helped to dedicate the clinic rooms.

Pythian Sisters To Nominate Officers Thurs.

Pythian Sisters will nominate officers when they hold a regular meeting at 7:30 p. m. Thursday in the Knights of Pythias Hall. The most excellent chief, Mrs. Harry Stiers will be in charge of the business session.

Household Hints

To conceal scratches on red-finished mahogany, you can use new iodine. For mahogany that has turned brown or is cherry colored, use iodine that has turned dark brown. For maple, dilute iodine with denatured alcohol, using a half-and-half mixture.

Add a few drops of kerosene and a little bluing to warm soapy water when you are washing windows. Gives extra sparkle!

Browns-Giants
Grid Showdown Looming Ahead

Comebacking Cleveland Squad Gains Tie with Stubborn Redskins '11'

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Step by step, Cleveland's comebacking Browns and New York's defending champion Giants are moving straight toward a Dec. 15 showdown for the Eastern Division title in the National Football League.

In the Western Division, it should be so simple!
With the San Francisco 49ers turned to vagrants on the road, Detroit rolling again behind Bobby Layne, Baltimore's Colts apparently back in stride and even the Los Angeles Rams butting into contention, it's anybody's guess in the West.

And there remain only four weeks of the pro season to un-scramble the mess.
The mess looks like this after the eighth round of the 12-week
NFL season Sunday:

San Francisco, Baltimore and Detroit tied for first place with 5-3 records and Los Angeles a notch behind at 4-4. The Lions, with Layne clicking on 17 of 24 passes in the first half alone, routed San Francisco 31-10, the 49ers second straight whipping on a road trip that will keep them away from home for another two weeks. The Colts, scoring 16 points in the fourth quarter, downed the Chicago (3-5) Bears, 29-14. The revived Rams, down 24-3 at the half, rallied behind vet Norm Van Broeklin and ace rookie John Arnett to defeat luckless Green Bay, 31-27.

In the East, the Browns stumbled a bit in a 30-30 tie with Washington but with six victories, a loss and a tie they still hold a half game lead over New York, 6-2 after a 13-0 blanking of Philadelphia. Pittsburgh and Chicago Cardinals were idle, their game having been put back to Dec. 22.

Cleveland came off a 10-point deficit with four minutes left to tie the pesky Redskins. The punchless Eagles outplayed the Giants on the attack, but New York's defense turned back four Philly threats, one that reached to within six inches of the goal line.

Lou Groza's third field goal Sunday afternoon soared between the Washington goal posts from 24 yards out with only 15 seconds to play, deadlocking the score at 30-30.

With six minutes left in the third quarter, the Browns were ahead 13-9. With five minutes remaining in the final quarter, they trailed 30-20.

Washington's little quarterback,
Eddie LeBaron credited his backs with "a terrific job" in keeping the Browns' line "from putting much pressure on me."

The 30 points scored Sunday in Washington were the most the crack Cleveland defense has yielded. In two games against Cleveland, the Skins have scored one more point than the total accumulated by Browns' opponents in all six of the other games.

The loss meant Washington can earn no better than a tie for the Eastern Division lead by winning all four remaining games while Cleveland and the New York Giants each lose four. The Giants, by mathematically eliminating the Philadelphia Eagles from the division race, pulled within a half game of the Browns.

In rushing, the Redskins outgained the Browns 153 yards net to 82. But Tommy O'Connell's kept Cleveland in the game. He completed six to Pete Brewster for 99 yards, four to Ray Renfro for 113 and six to Preston Carpenter for 112. LeBaron hit on seven of 10 for 177 net yards.

Groza field goals started and ended the scoring. He connected from 19, 35 and 24 yards to run his season total of field goals to 11. The halftime gun sounded as he was getting ready to try another from what for him was easy range.

End Bill Quinlan blocked Sam
Baker's try for Washington's first point after touchdown — and a mighty important point. A 13-yard LeBaron to Johnny Carson pass and a 15-yard roughing the passer penalty were the key gains in that touchdown drive. Leo Elter carried over from the 4.

Elter also scored Washington's second TD, dashing 18 yards to cap a seven-play, 80-yard march in the third quarter.

The Browns' first touchdown followed Baker's 25-yard field goal, which gave Washington a 9-3 second quarter lead. Chet Hanulak scouted across from nine yards out on a pitchout. The big play of that second period march was a 51-yard O'Connell-Renfro pass.

The Redskins took a 23-13 third quarter lead when Norb Hecker intercepted an O'Connell pass and carried 20 yards to the Browns' 44. A 38-yard LeBaron toss to Tom Braatz set the stage for rookie Don Bosseler's two - yard plunge for the touchdown.

In the hectic final quarter the Browns drove 63 yards, with 56 coming on four O'Connell passes, including a 10-yard touchdown toss to Brester. Washington rolled right back over 80 yards after the kickoff. End Steve Meilinger carried the last 33, taking a flip

IRISH UPSET OKLAHOMA — Oklahoma's Carl Dodd (22), dashes into Notre Dame territory for a 13-yard gain as Sooner fullback Morris blocks out Nick Pietrosante (49) of the Irish. The underdog Notre Dame team topped Oklahoma 7-0, and ended the nation's longest collegiate winning streak at 47 games. The game, which was witnessed by 62,000 fans at Norman, Oklahoma, marked the first defeat for the Sooners since November 9, 1953 and the first time in 123 games in which they have been held scoreless.

Undefeated Auburn Looming
As National Grid Champion

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Out of the carnage that struck down Oklahoma and Texas A&M, Auburn—a team that never before had dared dream of such things—today emerged as the possible national champion of college football.

With an 8-0 record, and 12 straight victories over the past two years, Shug Jordan's Plainsmen remain one of the two major unbeaten-untied teams in the country. Arizona State at Tempe is the other.

Auburn, ineligible for a bowl assignment because it is in bad with the NCAA, still has two games to play against Florida State and Alabama, but neither of these should present any undue difficulty.

This Auburn team is strictly a defensive outfit, and four of its victories have come by the margin of one touchdown, including Saturday's 6-0 squeaker over Georgia. The touchdown came on the only winning pass thrown by the club all season.

Both Oklahoma and Texas A&M bit the dust last week. The Sooners' 7-0 setback at the hands of Notre Dame, of course, was the shocker of the year—the last four years, in fact. The Irish, soundly trounced the two previous weeks, snapped Oklahoma's 47-game winning streak and also shut the Sooners out for the first time in 123 games.

Texas A&M was sidetracked by Rice, 7-6, and thus had its hopes of wrapping up the Southwest Conference championship for the second straight year toppled, at least temporarily.

Rice and Texas now are in the running, but the Aggies, who couldn't act as Cotton Bowl hosts last Jan. 1 because they were on NCAA probation, still are the favorites. They play Texas in the finals for both teams Thanksgiving Day.

Most of the major bowl positions are settled now. Here is how they stand:

Rose—Ohio State vs. Oregon.
Orange—Oklahoma vs. Duke.
Sugar—Mississippi vs. the second place team in the Southwest Conference.

Cotton—Texas A&M favored vs.
Navy, if Middles beat Army Nov.
30.

Ohio State, Oregon and Duke all cemented their spots last Saturday.

Duke must go through the formalities of being voted into the Orange Bowl by the Atlantic Coast Conference bigwigs.

Celtic's Cousy
Seriously Hurt

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The big news in the National Basketball Assn. today is that Bob Cousy, Boston's brilliant playmaker, will be lost to the undefeated
Celtics for several weeks.

Cousy was accidentally kicked in the side of the leg by Philadelphia's Neil Johnston while Boston rode to its 11th consecutive victory Saturday night. Latest reports say Cousy's leg is swollen and a blood clot is feared.

Sunday night's action was featured by Detroit's 95-91 victory over Philadelphia which put the Pistons in first place in the West-

Ohio College Teams End
Conference Football Cards

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ohio's colleges, having settled their conference championships, have a little interstate competition to wrap up before dropping the curtain on the 1957 campaign.

After winning only four of 12 games against outside teams last weekend, the Buckeye boys are deadlocked for the season's laurels.

They've won 47, lost 47, tied five, and are five points' behind in scoring, 1,671 to 1,666. With only three interstate contests to go, the Ohioans must win two to match the 1956 figures.

A year ago the Buckeyes won 49, lost 48 and tied four, but were outscored by 30 points, 1,613 to 1,583. Saturday's games — Ohio State at Michigan, Detroit at Dayton, and Youngstown at Eastern Kentucky—offer the last chance to get ahead.

Only 18 Teams
Still Undefeated

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Five college football teams fell from the perfect record class over the weekend, chopping the unbeaten, untied list to 18 schools.

Among the major ranks only Auburn and Arizona State remain, each with eight victories.

The list:
Ten games—Pittsburgh (Kan.).
Nine games—West Chester (Pa.)
Hillsdale and Middle Tenn. State.
Eight games—St. Norbert, Lincoln (Mo.), Auburn, Arizona State, Hamden - Sydney, Ripon (Wis.),
Lock Haven (Pa.) Westminster (Utah) and Idaho State.

Seven games—Fairmont (WVa.).
Six games — Juniata, Hobart, Elon (NC) and Florida A&M.

from LeBaron in the flat and shaking off Warren Lahr.

The touchdown that saved the Browns from defeat resulted from a pass that Preston Carpenter batted into the air then caught for a 40-yard gain, and a 22-yard pass that Preston lateraled to Renfro.
Renfro took it on first bounce and ran seven yards to score.

On the home front, Miami won the Mid-American title with a 5-0-0 record. Bluffton retained its Mid-Ohio loop crown with 5-0-0.
John Carroll replaced Wayne as President's Conference king with 3-0-0, and Denison and Wittenberg deadlocked for the Ohio Conference championship with 6-1-0.

Wittenberg lost a 9-7 verdict to Akron in the opening conference contest, and Denison's loss was 17-14 to Heidelberg. Wittenberg sandwiched its six wins between two losses, the Lutherans losing 28-13 to Western Kentucky in Saturday's finale.

Denison continued to roll, however, by 40-14 over Ohio Wesleyan, to take the state-wide lead with 8-1-0 and the high-scoring laurels with 357 points. Bowling Green, shorn of its Mid-American crown with a 6-1-2 season, allowed only 55 points for the defensive honors.

All the state's 35 teams were beaten at least once, and only Case Tech and Wilmington failed to register a victory. Each had one tie, however, and Case came up with the nation's longest scoring run—a 109-yard kick return against Ohio Wesleyan.

Case scored only 38 points in six games for the least potent offense, while Marietta's Pioneers let 294 points trickle across their goal line for the least defense.

Ohio State can tie Denison for the statewide lead at 8-1-0 by defeating Michigan Saturday, adding that to its Big Ten title and the

Browns-Giants Grid Showdown Looming Ahead

Comebacking Cleveland Squad Gains Tie with Stubborn Redskin '11'

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Step by step, Cleveland's comebacking Browns and New York's defending champion Giants are moving straight toward a Dec. 15 showdown for the Eastern Division title in the National Football League.

In the Western Division, it should be so simple!

With the San Francisco 49ers turned to vagrants on the road, Detroit rolling again behind Bobby Layne, Baltimore's Colts apparently back in stride and even the Los Angeles Rams butting into contention, it's anybody's guess in the West.

The mess looks like this after the eighth round of the 12-week NFL season Sunday:

San Francisco, Baltimore and Detroit tied for first place with 5-3 records and Los Angeles a notch behind at 4-4. The Lions, with Layne clicking on 17 of 24 passes in the first half alone, routed San Francisco 31-10, the 49ers second straight whipping on a road trip that will keep them away from home for another two weeks. The Colts, scoring 16 points in the fourth quarter, downed the Chicago (3-5) Bears, 29-14. The revived Rams, down 24-3 at the half, rallied behind vet Norm Van Brocklin and ace rookie Jon Arnett to defeat luckless Green Bay, 21-27.

In the East, the Browns stumbled a bit in a 30-20 tie with Washington but with six victories, a loss and a tie they still hold a half game lead over New York, 6-2 after a 13-0 blanking of Philadelphia. Pittsburgh and Chicago Cardinals were idle, their game having been put back to Dec. 22. Cleveland came off a 10-point deficit with four minutes left to tie the pesky Redskins. The punchless Eagles outplayed the Giants on the attack, but New York's defense turned back four Philly threats, one that reached to within six inches of the goal line.

Lou Groza's third field goal Sunday afternoon soared between the Washington goal posts from 24 yards out with only 15 seconds to play, deadlocking the score at 30-30.

With six minutes left in the third quarter, the Browns were ahead 13-9. With five minutes remaining in the final quarter, they trailed 30-20.

Washington's little quarterback, Eddie Lebaron credited his backs with "a terrific job" in keeping the Browns' line "from putting much pressure on me."

The 30 points scored Sunday in Washington were the most the crack Cleveland defense has yielded. In two games against Cleveland, the Skins have scored one more point than the total accumulated by Browns' opponents in all six of the other games.

The loss meant Washington can earn no better than a tie for the Eastern Division lead by winning all four remaining games while Cleveland and the New York Giants each lose four. The Giants, by mathematically eliminating the Philadelphia Eagles from the division race, pulled within a half game of the Browns.

In rushing, the Redskins out-gained the Browns 153 yards net to 82. But Tommy O'Connell's kept Cleveland in the game. He completed six to Pete Brewster for 99 yards, four to Ray Renfro for 113 and six to Preston Carpenter for 112. Lebaron hit on seven of 10 for 177 net yards.

Groza field goals started and ended the scoring. He connected from 19, 35 and 24 yards to run his season total of field goals to 11. The halftime gun sounded as he was getting ready to try another from what for him was easy range.

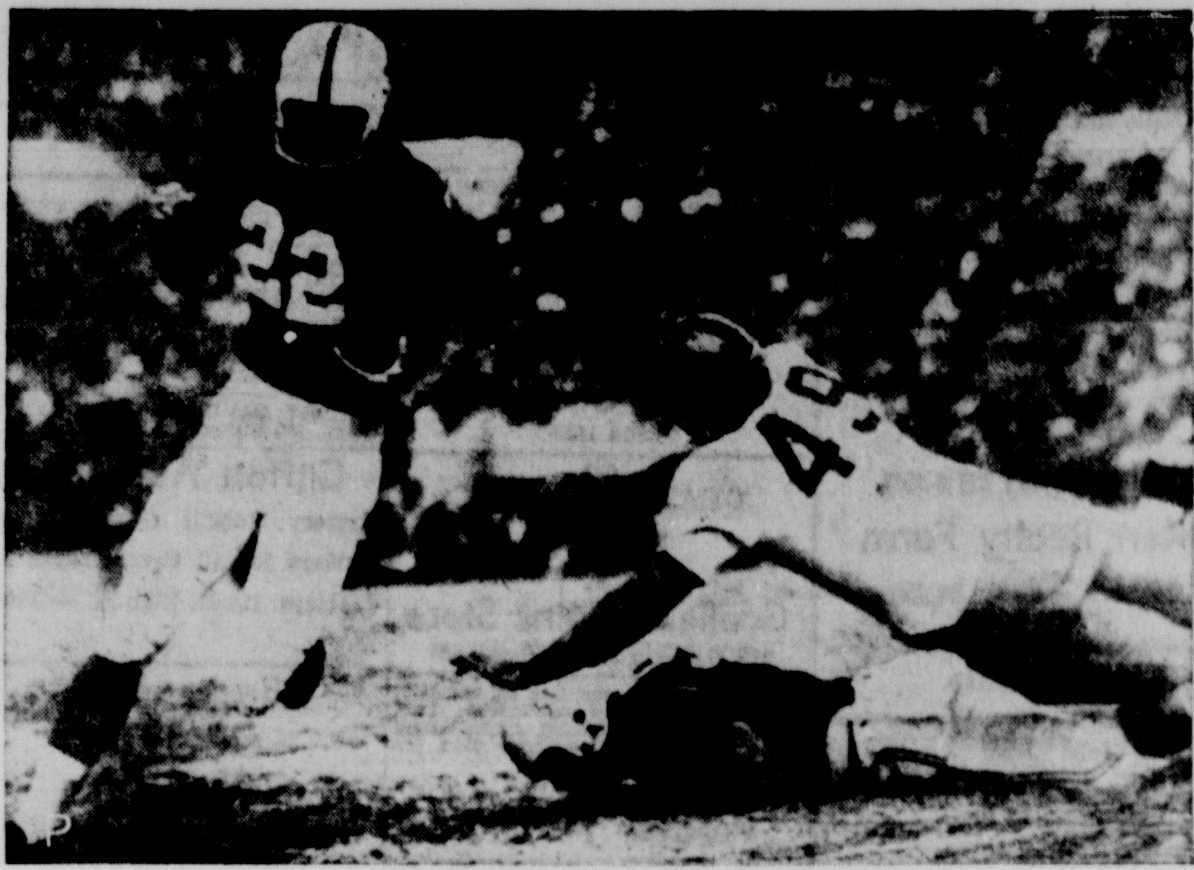

End Bill Quinlan blocked Sam Baker's try for Washington's first point after touchdown — and a mighty important point. A 13-yard Lebaron to Johnny Carson pass and a 15-yard roughing the passer penalty were the key gains in that touchdown drive. Leo Elter carried over from the 4.

Elter also scored Washington's second TD, dashing 18 yards to cap a seven-play, 80-yard march in the third quarter.

The Browns' first touchdown followed Baker's 25-yard field goal, which gave Washington a 9-3 second quarter lead. Chet Hanulak scooted across from nine yards out on a pitchout. The big play of that second period march was a 51-yard O'Connell-Renfro pass.

The Redskins took a 23-13 third quarter lead when Norb Hecker intercepted an O'Connell pass and carried 20 yards to the Browns' 44. A 38-yard Lebaron toss to Tom Bratz set the stage for rookie Don Bosseler's two-yard plunge for the touchdown.

In the hectic final quarter the Browns drove 63 yards, with 56 coming on four O'Connell passes, including a 10-yard touchdown toss to Brester. Washington rolled right back over 80 yards after the kickoff. End Steve Meilinger carried the last 33, taking a flip

ON TO THE ROSE BOWL — Bob White, Ohio State fullback is halted momentarily by Hawkeye fullback, John Nocera (33), and another Iowa defender on his back, on Iowa's five yard-line. White, however, went the five yards the hard way, taking with him the two Hawkeye hitchhikers, to score the winning touchdown, as Ohio defeated Iowa, 17-13. The victory, before a crowd of 82,935 at Columbus, Ohio, gave the Buckeyes the Western Conference championship and the Rose Bowl bid.

Irish-Iowa Grid Tilt Slated on Television

CHICAGO (P)—The Iowa-Notre Dame football game Saturday at South Bend, will be televised as part of the NCAA series.

NBC will carry the telecast. Western Conference officials announced Sunday.

Notre Dame, which shattered Oklahoma's 47-game winning streak Saturday, will be out to avenge a 48-8 lacing administered by Iowa last year.

The Irish have a 5-2 record this year while the Hawkeyes are 6-1-1 in overall competition.

Elks Keglers In District Meet

Two teams represented the Circleville Elks Lodge in the Elks district bowling tournament at Jackson, Saturday night.

Bowling on team No. 1 were: Robert Wood; Gene Lindsay; Clydus Fausnaugh; J. I. Smith, and Clark Martin. With team 2 were: Charlie Bartholomew; William Betts; Charles Gray; David Crawford and Lester Wolford.

Ohio College Teams End Conference Football Cards

COLUMBUS, Ohio (P)—Ohio's colleges, having settled their conference championships, have a little interstate competition to wrap up before dropping the curtain on the 1957 campaign.

After winning only four of 12 games against outside teams last weekend, the Buckeye boys are deadlocked for the season's laurels.

They've won 47, lost 47, tied five, and are five points behind in scoring, 1,671 to 1,666. With only three interstate contests to go, the Ohioans must win two to match the 1956 figures.

A year ago the Buckeyes won 49, lost 48 and tied four, but were outscored by 30 points, 1,613 to 1,583. Saturday's games — Ohio State at Michigan, Detroit at Dayton, and Youngstown at Eastern Kentucky—offer the last chance to get ahead.

Only 18 Teams Still Undefeated

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Five college football teams fell from the perfect record class over the weekend, chopping the unbeaten, untied list to 18 schools.

Among the major ranks only Auburn and Arizona State remain, each with eight victories.

Ten games—Pittsburgh (Kan.).

Nine games—West Chester (Pa.) Hillsdale and Middle Tenn. State.

Eight games—St. Norbert, Lincoln (Mo.), Auburn, Arizona State, Hampden - Sydney, Ripon (Wis.), Lock Haven (Pa.) Westminster (Utah) and Idaho State.

Seven games—Fairmont (WVa.).

Six games — Juniata, Hobart, Elon (NC) and Florida A&M.

from Lebaron in the flat and shaking off Warren Lahr.

The touchdown that saved the Browns from defeat resulted from a pass that Preston Carpenter batted into the air then caught for a 40-yard gain, and a 22-yard pass that Preston lateraled to Renfro.

On the home front, Miami won the Mid-American title with a 5-0-0 record. Bluffton retained its Mid-Ohio loop crown with 5-0-0. John Carroll replaced Wayne as President's Conference king with 3-0-0, and Denison and Wittenberg deadlocked for the Ohio Conference championship with 6-1-0.

Wittenberg lost a 9-7 verdict to Akron in the opening conference contest, and Denison's loss was 17-14 to Heidelberg. Wittenberg sandwiched its six wins between two losses, the Lutherans losing 28-13 to Western Kentucky in Saturday's finale.

Denison continued to roll, however, by 40-14 over Ohio Wesleyan, to take the state-wide lead with 8-1-0 and the high-scoring laurels with 357 points. Bowling Green, shorn of its Mid-American crown with a 6-1-2 season, allowed only 55 points for the defensive honors.

All the state's 35 teams were beaten at least once, and only Case Tech and Wilmington failed to register a victory. Each had one tie, however, and Case came up with the nation's longest scoring run—a 109-yard kick return against Ohio Wesleyan.

Case scored only 38 points in six games for the least potent offense, while Marietta's Pioneers let 294 points trickle across their goal line for the least defense.

Ohio State can tie Denison for the statewide lead at 8-1-0 by defeating Michigan Saturday, adding that to its Big Ten title and the Rose Bowl bid.

Robinson Doffs His U. S. Marine Uniform

CINCINNATI (P)—Frankie Robinson, star left fielder for the Cincinnati Redlegs, put aside his Marine Corps uniform Saturday to look for a job to tide him over until spring training.

Mustered into the Marines only a few weeks ago, Robinson was discharged Friday at Parris Island, S. C., because of an old arm and shoulder injury.

"I have no added pain," he said. "It's just about the same as it always is," he reported.

Oklahoma Coach Not Too Surprised

NORMAN, Okla. (AP)—Long winning streaks in football are a thing of the past. No less an authority than Oklahoma coach Bud Wilkinson feels that way.

Last Saturday, Notre Dame's big line and alert backfield laid asunder the Sooners' 47-game winning streak, 7-0.

The streak was the longest in college history.

"We were lucky to get this far before getting beat," Wilkinson said today. "And I have no doubt in my mind that there'll be no more such winning streaks."

Buckeyes Win Big Ten Title Trip to Roses

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Buckeyes of Ohio State are once again champions of the Big Ten and will meet Oregon in the Rose Bowl New Year's Day.

Ohio State, in winning its third title in four years, unveiled a sophomore pile driver who proved the

Bob White, who had played mostly on defense, took over for Ohio State and gained 137 yards in 22 carries to turn the tide. White picked up 65 yards in a 68-yard final drive which brought the Buckeyes from behind a 13-10 count to a title-clinching victory.

In the final analysis, it was Iowa's mistakes that contributed heavily to the Buckeye cause. The Hawkeyes lost the ball three times on fumbles and three times on pass interceptions.

While Ohio State was squeezing

past Iowa, Michigan State trampled Minnesota, 42-13; Michigan bounced Indiana, 24-13; Wisconsin dropped Illinois, 24-13; and Purdue hit Northwestern, 27-0.

With little at stake this week, Ohio State (6-0) will be at Michigan (3-2-1), Northwestern (0-6) is at Illinois (2-4), Purdue (3-3) goes to Indiana (0-5) in a classic rivalry, Wisconsin (3-3) is at Minnesota (3-4), Iowa (4-1-1) journeys to Notre Dame and Kansas State is at Michigan State (5-1).

Oklahoma Coach Not Too Surprised

NORMAN, Okla. (P)—Long winning streaks in football are a thing of the past. No less an authority than Oklahoma coach Bud Wilkinson feels that way.

Last Saturday, Notre Dame's big line and alert backfield laid asunder the Sooners' 47-game winning streak, 7-0.

The streak was the longest in collegiate history.

Buckeyes Win Big Ten Title Trip to Roses

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Buckeyes of Ohio State are once again champions of the Big Ten and will meet Oregon in the Rose Bowl New Year's Day.

Ohio State, in winning its third title in four years, unveiled a sophomore pile driver who proved the difference in a 17-13 triumph over Iowa.

Bob White, who had played mostly on defense, took over for Ohio State and gained 157 yards in 22 carries to turn the tide. White picked up 65 yards in a 68-yard final drive which brought the Buckeyes from behind a 13-10 count to a title-clinching victory.

In the final analysis, it was Iowa's mistakes that contributed heavily to the Buckeye cause. The Hawkeyes lost the ball three times on fumbles and three times on pass interceptions.

While Ohio State was squeezing

past Iowa, Michigan State trampled Minnesota, 42-13; Michigan bounced Indiana, 27-13; Wisconsin dropped Illinois, 24-13; and Purdue hit Northwestern, 27-0.

With little at stake this week, Ohio State (6-0) will be at Michigan (3-2), Northwestern (0-6) is at Illinois (0-5) in a classic rivalry, Wisconsin (3-3) is at Minnesota (3-4), Iowa (4-1) journeys to Notre Dame and Kansas State is at Michigan State (5-1).

Lima Opening 'Corpse-less' Murder Trial

Police Chief Reports Case Makes Hitchcock Mystery 'Look Silly'

LIMA (AP)—The first degree murder trial of Ralph Forsythe, 42, opened today in common pleas court here and the case resembles something that a fiction writer might dream up.

Forsythe is accused of the Aug. 10 slaying of Charles Conner, who was celebrating his 37th birthday. But Conner's body has never been found. The Lima paint company foreman just vanished.

The state, represented by prosecutor Anthony J. Bowers, is expected to hinge its case largely on the testimony of Harry Smith and Larue Arlington, who say they saw Forsythe shoot Conner.

To add to the mystery, the defense attorney, Ernest Navarre, has issued a subpoena for the "victim."

Lima police chief Donald F. Miller told newsmen shortly after the alleged murder was committed that "our investigation convinces me that Charles Conner was shot in the kitchen of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Forsythe's home about 9 p.m. Saturday, Aug. 10. Two witnesses tell us that Conner was shot."

A GRAND JURY indicted Forsythe for murder Sept. 21.

At that time Emory Galloway of the State Bureau of Criminal Investigation at London testified that blood found in Forsythe's kitchen, in a pickup truck and on one of his gloves had been analyzed as human blood.

The alleged shooting took place during the time Forsythe was free on bond pending an appeal from a contempt of court conviction. He was ordered out of Lima and Allen County a year ago after he pleaded guilty to two counts of operating a house of prostitution.

At the time of his banishment Forsythe was given the choice of leaving Lima forever or serving a one-year workhouse sentence. He left Lima, but later returned.

Forsythe's lawyers asked that the trial be shifted to another county where the alleged slaying has received less publicity. Judge Jenkins Saturday turned down the request for change of venue.

Chief Miller says: "This case makes the TV program 'Alfred Hitchcock Presents' look silly. A shooting has been reported, but there is no body."

The alleged shooting took place during the time Forsythe was free on bond pending an appeal from a contempt of court conviction which followed his illegal return to Lima.

Mrs. Forsythe was held briefly by Lima police after the alleged shooting, but was released. Chief Miller said she was not involved in the offense for which her husband was banished from Lima by Judge Carl M. Blank.

Judge Blank gave Forsythe the choice of "leaving Lima forever" or serving a one-year workhouse sentence. Forsythe left Lima and before his return spent some time in Dayton and in Indiana.

Little GOP Threat Seen in Deep South

WASHINGTON (AP)—If the Democratic party organization listens to former President Truman it may groom a 1960 presidential candidate who can appeal to the Northern big city vote without writing off the entire South.

As do many other national leaders of the party, Truman believes the 1960 Democratic nominee must stand firmly for enforcement of the Supreme Court's school integration opinion.

But if his remarks are being interpreted correctly by his associates, Truman would rather see as a nominee a man whose support of this position is accepted without fanfare than one whose selection would have a red flag in the face of the South.

The difference is illustrated by Truman's friends (but not the former President himself) as lying between the possible candidates of Democratic Governors Robert B. Meyner of New Jersey and G. Mennen Williams of Michigan.

BOTH ARE strong advocates of civil rights but Williams has been more vocal on the subject.

Along with most other Democrats, Truman evidently believes the Republican party will be no threat in the South three years from now. This is based primarily on reaction to President Eisenhower's sending of federal troops to enforce a court order for integration in the Little Rock, Ark., high school.

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Tennessee Ernie Ford and his wife lost $6,000 in jewels and furs to burglars over the weekend, but they figure it could have been worse.

In reporting to police that his house had been thoroughly ransacked while he vacationed in Palm Springs, the TV singing star observed: "They were looking for jewelry and stuff like that, but they didn't get much because we was a wearin' most of our purties."

Bellevue Hospital, where he was admitted to a psychiatric ward. Police refused to divulge the contents of his statement.

Studio officials said Fichter, a tall, bearded man, had tried to participate in rehearsals Sunday afternoon but was ejected. He had a ticket for the show.

Pickaway Grange Report

STAR GRANGE

Worthy Master Robert Wrights presided at the regular meeting of Star Grange attended by 30 members last Wednesday.

A contribution was made to CARE for Korean relief and to an appeal for aid to a needy Grange family in Lake County. The Grange plans to purchase new manuals for the Juvenile members. Wrights reported on an officers' meeting at his home. Committees and lecture programs were planned. He also reported on a county-wide master's meeting held at the home of County Deputy John F. Dowler. An exchange program schedule was planned and inspection dates arranged.

Committees for the year were announced:

Home Economics — Mrs. Raymond Grabbill, chairman; Mrs. Russell Shannon, Mrs. Clark Dennis, Mrs. Francis Furniss.

Kitchen — Mrs. Carroll Reid and Mrs. Clarence Finch, co-chairmen; Mrs. William Davis, Mrs. Turney Sheets, Mrs. Paul Moore, Mrs. Russell Timmons, Mrs. Don Archer, Mrs. Lloyd Grabbill, Mrs. C. D. Hosler, Mrs. Winfred Bidwell, Mrs. Herschel Long, Mrs. C. M. Reid.

Purchasing — Mrs. Frances G. Neff, Mrs. Lloyd Neff.

Card Selling — Mrs. C. E. Dick, Mrs. Frances G. Neff, Mrs. Helen Phillips.

Dining Room — Mrs. Dwight Reid and Mrs. Edward Schleich, co-chairmen; Mrs. Harvey Brigner, Mrs. Joe Rogers, Mrs. Robert Dennis, Mrs. Kenneth Reid, Mrs. Ovid Clark, Mrs. Harold Adkins, Mrs. Harmon Bach, Mrs. Richard Phillips, Mrs. Joe Armstrong, Mrs. Gene Lindsey, Mrs. John Siebel.

Executive — Herman Porter, Clarence Finch and S. A. Dennis. Flowers and Card — Mrs. Herman Porter, Mrs. Shirley Anderson.

Activity — Miss Margaret Reid, chairman; Mr. and Mrs. Elbert Rawlins, Mr. and Mrs. Art Dick.

Finance — C. D. Hosler, chairman; Russell Timmons, Charles Corkwell, Ray Harden, Sr.

Youth — Miss Nancy Neff, chairman; Kenneth Reid, Ivan Hix.

Advisors to Youth — Miss Margaret Anderson, Don Ray Willis.

Health — Miss Barbara Stoer, chairman; Miss Florence Long, Mrs. Robert See.

Subordinate — Juvenile — Mrs. Carl Duleson, chairman; Mrs. Ray Harden, Jr., Mrs. James Willis.

Membership — Mr. and Mrs. Paul Long, chairmen; Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Michel, Mrs. Marguerite Snyder.

Investigating — Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Dick, chairmen; Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Hosler, Mr. and Mrs. S. A. Dennis, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Adkins.

Community Service — Harold Furniss, chairman, Russell Shannon, Mrs. Lyle Davis, Mrs. Raymond Grabbill, Mrs. Frances G. Neff, Miss Margaret Reid, Mr. and Mrs. Herman Porter, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Long, Mrs. Helen Schleich, Mrs. Francis Furniss, Mrs. Carroll Reid, Mrs. Dwight Reid, Miss Nancy Neff.

Mrs. Helen Schleich, lecturer, was in charge of the program which had the theme, "Farming—Then and Now." Program booklets carrying out the idea of Thanksgiving with orange turkeys on brown covers were distributed to members. Group singing of "Beautiful Ohio" opened the program, followed with the "Thought for Today" by Mrs. Lyle Davis. The lecturer read a safety hint on the proper way to drive a nail.

C. M. Reid acted as moderator for a panel discussion, C. E. Dick, C. D. Hosler and S. A. Dennis discussed farming methods of 50 years ago while Turney Sheets, Russell Shannon and Wilbur Beathard discussed farming today.

The comparison proved very interesting. It was brought out that 50 years ago a young man could start farming with between $300 and $500 worth of equipment as compared with the need of at least $10,000 today depending on custom-hired equipment.

Wages ranged from 75 cents a day then to a high of $30 a week

Fugitive Python Cold, Comes Home

MESA, Ariz. (AP)—Cold weather, or maybe loneliness, was too much for Big Ben, the fugitive 21-foot python.

He slithered from his cage at an alligator farm Friday. But after two days on the nearby desert, where temperatures dropped to 40 degrees, he crawled home and wistfully poked his nose through the fence.

He was returned to his cage. Keeper Jack Adams said, "He caught a slight cold, but I think he'll be all right."

plus produce now. The price paid for cutting corn then was 5 and 6 cents a shock, as compared to 75 cents and $1 now. Hogs brought 3½ cents a pound in 1896 as compared to an all-time high in 1946 of 30 cents a pound.

Equipment has made a tremendous improvement over the years from a one-row corn planter, hand powered checking to the latest in six-row corn planter and cultivator; horse-powered threshing outfits then to self-propelled combines today.

WHEAT AND CORN were hauled to market over dirt roads in 75 bushel loads pulled by horses, now they are hauled in trucks over hard surfaced roads.

Attending church was about the only time neighbors got together then. Now the car tends to carry the people farther from church, or else radio and television keep them at home.

Results of the corn show contest were announced. Prizes were awarded as follows in the Hybrid Class: 1. Clarence Finch; 2. C. P. Corkwell; 3. Clarence Finch. C. P. Corkwell was awarded a blue ribbon for the longest ear; a red ribbon went to Gene Lindsey; and a white one to C. E. Dick.

Doughnuts and cider were served by Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Finch, Mr. and Mrs. William Finch, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Finch, Mrs. Robert See and Dale Smith. A film on "Ohio's Golden Harvest" was shown.

Clarksburg Grange in Fayette County will present the program at our next meeting on Nov. 26.

Membership Drive Prizes Awarded By Pickaway PTO

The Pickaway Twp. Parent Teachers Organization held its regular meeting last week in the school auditorium with Mrs. Robert Young presiding.

The second grade received $1 for having the most parents present. The third grade received $5 in the membership drive contest. Charles Jones, a third grader, won the individual prize for securing the most members.

A donation was sent to the Pickaway County Tuberculosis and Health Assn.

The high school chorus sang, "O Rejoice You Christians Loudly", "We Thank Thee All Our God", and "Bless This House", under the direction of music teacher, Mr.

Truman has told friends here he envisions a campaign somewhat similar to his successful race in 1948. In that year, Truman lost four Southern states to a Southern States Right party because of his espousal of civil rights legislation.

As do many other national leaders of the party, Truman believes the 1960 Democratic nominee must stand firmly for enforcement of the Supreme Court's school integration opinion.

But if his remarks are being interpreted correctly by his associates, Truman would rather see as a nominee a man whose support of this position is accepted without fanfare than one whose selection would have a red flag in the face of the South.

The difference is illustrated by Truman's friends (but not the former President himself) as lying between the possible candidacies of Democratic Governors Robert B. Meyner of New Jersey and G. Mennen Williams of Michigan.

BOTH ARE strong advocates of civil rights but Williams has been more vocal on the subject.

Along with most other Democrats, Truman evidently believes the Republican party will be no threat in the South three years from now. This is based primarily on reaction to President Eisenhower's sending of federal troops to enforce a court order for integration in the Little Rock, Ark., high school.

Truman knows from experience, however, there can be more than a latent threat in the South's quadrennial talk of a third party.

Tennessee Ernie Loses Some Purlies

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Tennessee Ernie Ford and his wife lost $6,000 in jewels and furs to burglars over the weekend, but they figure it could have been worse.

In reporting to police that his house had been thoroughly ransacked while he vacationed in Palm Springs, the TV singing star observed: "They were looking for jewelry and stuff like that, but they didn't get much because we was a wearin' most of our purlies."

Bellevue Hospital, where he was admitted to the psychiatric ward. Police refused to divulge the contents of his statement.

Studio officials said Fichter, a tall, bearded man, had tried to participate in rehearsals Sunday afternoon but was ejected. He had a ticket for the show.

Pickaway Grange Report

STAR GRANGE

Worthy Master Robert Wrights presided at the regular meeting of Star Grange attended by 30 members last Wednesday.

A contribution was made to CARE for Korean relief and to an appeal for aid to a needy Grange family in Lake County. The Grange plans to purchase new manuals for the Juvenile members. Wrights reported on an officers' meeting at his home. Committees and lecture programs were planned. He also reported on a county-wide master's meeting held at the home of County Deputy John F. Dwyer. An exchange program schedule was planned and inspection dates arranged.

Committees for the year were announced:

Mrs. Helen Schleich, lecturer, was in charge of the program which had the theme, "Farming—Then and Now." Program booklets carrying out the idea of Thanksgiving with orange turkeys on brown covers were distributed to members. Group singing of "Beautiful Ohio" opened the program, followed with the "Thought for Today" by Mrs. Lyle Davis. The lecturer read a safety hint on the proper way to drive a nail.

C. M. Reid acted as moderator for a panel discussion, C. E. Dick, C. D. Hosler and S. A. Dennis discussed farming methods of 50 years ago while Turney Sheets, Russell Shannon and Wilbur Beathard discussed farming today.

The comparison proved very interesting.

It was brought out that 50 years ago a young man could start farming with between $300 and $500 worth of equipment as compared with the need of at least $10,000 today depending on custom-hired equipment.

Wages ranged from 75 cents a day then to a high of $30 a week

Fugitive Python Cold, Comes Home

MESA, Ariz. (AP)—Cold weather, or maybe loneliness, was too much for Big Ben, the fugitive 21-foot python.

He slithered from his cage at an alligator farm Friday. But after two days on the nearby desert, where temperatures dropped to 40 degrees, he crawled home and wistfully poked his nose through the fence.

He was returned to his cage. Keeper Jack Adams said, "He caught a slight cold, but I think he'll be all right."

plus produce now. The price paid for cutting corn then was 5 and 6 cents a shock, as compared to 75 cents and $1 now. Hogs brought 3½ cents a pound in 1896 as compared to an all-time high in 1946 of 30 cents a pound.

Equipment has made a tremendous improvement over the years from a one-row corn planter, hand powered checking to the latest in six-row corn planter and cultivator; horse-powered threshing outfits then to self-propelled combines today.

WHEAT AND CORN were hauled to market over dirt roads in 75 bushel loads pulled by horses, now they are hauled in trucks over hard surfaced roads.

Attending church was about the only time neighbors got together then. Now the car tends to carry the people farther from church, or else radio and television keep them at home.

Results of the corn show contest were announced. Prizes were awarded as follows in the Hybrid Class: 1. Clarence Finch; 2. C. P. Corkwell; 3. Clarence Finch. C. P. Corkwell was awarded a blue ribbon for the longest ear; a red ribbon went to Gene Lindsey; and a white one to C. E. Dick.

Doughnuts and cider were served by Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Finch, Mr. and Mrs. William Finch, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Finch, Mrs. Robert See and Dale Smith. A film on "Ohio's Golden Harvest" was shown.

Clarksburg Grange in Fayette County will present the program at our next meeting on Nov. 26.

Membership Drive Prizes Awarded By Pickaway PTO

The Pickaway Twp. Parent Teachers Organization held its regular meeting last week in the school auditorium with Mrs. Robert Young presiding.

The second grade received $1 for having the most parents present. The third grade received $5 in the membership drive contest. Charles Jones, a third grader, won the individual prize for securing the most members.

A donation was sent to the Pickaway County Tuberculosis and Health Assn.

The high school chorus sang, "O Rejoice You Christians Loudly", "We Thank Thee All Our God", and Bless This House", under the direction of music teacher, Mr.

Twins Get Identical Arrests and Fines

GREEN BAY, Wis. (AP)—Twins Ray C. and Roy C. Wickman, arrested for speeding at the same spot but nine minutes apart, were fined $10 each.

Roy and Ray appeared in court with their father, Clarence, who explained the 20-year-olds, "Al-ways did do everything together."

Low Gets Law

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—John W. Law, 39, was cited by police here for a traffic violation.

Simons, Miss Sandra Grissom sang, "Tammy" accompanied by Miss Nancy Wilson.

A panel discussion was the highlight of the evening. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Philip Wilson and her committee.
